Instant Payout

Swift End of Service Indemnity Payment through Benefit, Bank Accounts

Mahir Haneef
TDI | Manama

Expatriates in Bahrain's private sector are now assured instant indemnity payouts to their Benefit or bank accounts, offering unparalleled financial security upon job termination.

This groundbreaking mechanism, designed to streamline end-of-service indemnity (EOSI) payments for non-Bahraini workers, eliminates delays and provides immediate access to funds, marking a pivotal shift in labour rights reform.

The initiative has been widely welcomed by workers, bringing a sense of relief and certainty during transitions.

Managed by the Social Insurance Organization (SIO), the system ensures monthly employer contributions are pooled into a dedicated fund, allowing swift disbursement once claims are submitted.

By prioritising efficiency and transparency, this centralised approach redefines how expatriates in Bahrain access their financial entitlements.

Simplified Claims

Navigating bureaucratic hurdles has often been a source of frustration for expatriates, but the Benefit system has transformed this experience into a seamless process.

Through SIO's e-services platform, workers can log in using advanced e-key authentication, verify personal details, and update their International Bank Account Number (IBAN).

The system enables users to attach supporting documents in PDF format, ensuring accuracy and ease.

Detailed guidance is available on the SIO website, providing expatriates with clear instructions on every step of the application.

This digital-first approach reflects Bahrain's commitment to modernising its systems and offering a user-friendly interface for all.

This transformative reform stems from Decision No. (109) of 2023, issued by HRH Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, the Crown Prince and Prime Minister, which set the framework for this ambitious system.

By mandating monthly employer contributions and placing the responsibility for disbursements on the SIO, the decision exemplifies Bahrain's commitment to fairness and equity in its labour market.

The Benefit system goes beyond financial reform, symbolising Bahrain's dedication to valuing the contributions of its expatriate workforce.

For many workers, it offers not just immediate financial relief but also a sense of inclusion and recognition within the evolving workforce landscape. As Bahrain continues to champion progressive labour practices, this initiative stands as a landmark achievement in ensuring worker welfare and economic stability.

Illegal business licence rental: Bahraini woman and Asian national fined

TDT | Manama

A Bahraini woman has been fined BD1,000 and permanently stripped of her commercial registration after she unlawfully rented it to an expat restaurateur, who used it to open an eatery.

Bahrain's highest court upheld the punishment, marking the end of a case that the authorities say breaches economic rules and principles.

The Asian defendant, who rented the registration, was also fined BD1,000.

The court additionally ordered the cancellation of the Bahraini woman's business licence from the Ministry of Industry's records.

The matter first came to light when the Ministry of Industry reported that the restaurant's owner had been renting out her commercial

Basketball player wins BD4,500 compensation

TDT | Manama

A Bahraini basketball player has been awarded BD4,500 in compensation following a traffic accident that left him with a 7% permanent disability.

The ruling, handed down by a Bahraini court, concludes a case against both the driver responsible for the accident and their insurance company.

The incident occurred when the basketball player, riding his motorcycle, was struck by a car driven by another individual.

The resulting damage to the motorcycle and the player's injuries led to the legal action.

According to the player's lawyer, Aqeela Mohammed Jassim, the lawsuit sought BD6,000 in compensation for both material and emotional damages, plus legal interest.

MPs back traffic fee exemptions for citizens

TDT | Manama

Traffic fee exemptions for citizens — approved by MPs yesterday — have drawn a stark warning from the General Directorate of Traffic, which fears the move could rattle Bahrain's finances and undermine non-oil revenue streams.

The proposal, spearheaded by MP Dr Ali Al Nuaimi, calls for scrapping fees for services provided by the General Directorate of Traffic, aiming to ease financial pressures on households.

Dr Al Nuaimi argued that the measure would allow citizens to access essential licensing and traffic services without the extra burden of fees.

He said this would not only lighten the load on family budgets but also encourage better compliance with road laws, benefiting the public at large.

Yet, the General Directorate of Traffic has urged caution.

In a letter to Parliament, it warned that the fee waivers could destabilise the budget and hinder the Fiscal Balance Programme, a cornerstone of Bahrain's economic framework.

It stressed that the fees are not a profit-making venture but are used to cover the costs of providing traffic-related services.

National health insurance scheme rollout next year

TDT | Manama

Health Minister Dr Jaleela Al Sayed has revealed updates on the implementation of Bahrain's national health insurance scheme, confirming a phased rollout aimed at providing a high-quality, integrated healthcare system.

The scheme is expected to be launched for residents in 2025.

Addressing a parliamentary question from MP Mohammed

Al Balushi, the Minister stated that the Supreme Council of Health is working on implementing the programme in accordance with the Health Insurance Law No. 23 of 2018.

Implementation will be gradual, coordinated with relevant government bodies and healthcare insurance experts.

The mandatory health insurance for citizens will encompass 19 packages offering diverse services, including medical examinations.

Economic stability over 'flexibility'

MPs seek stricter rules on expat job transfers mid-contract, citing disruption to businesses

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

MPs are pushing for tougher rules to curb expat workers switching jobs mid-contract, claiming the practice disrupts businesses and breaches existing agreements.

The proposal, passed earlier yesterday in the Council of Representatives, seeks stricter controls to ensure that workers cannot transfer to another employer during the validity of their contracts without complying with legal and contractual obligations to their current employer.

Loopholes

The motion was tabled by MPs Mamdouh Al Saleh, Mahdi Al Shuwaikh, Abdulwahid Qarata, and Abdulnabi Salman, who argued that some workers exploit loopholes in the current system, leaving employers grappling with unfinished work and operational challenges.

"Unchecked job transfers during an active contract are causing real harm to businesses, as they often result in disrupted workflows and economic instability," MP Mamdouh Al Saleh said.

He stressed that the proposed measures are essential to protect employers from potential breaches of trust and disruption in their operations.

The existing law already requires foreign workers to spend at least one calendar year in their current job before transferring, but the MPs pointed out that enforcement needs to be tightened to address recurring issues.

They added that any transfer should only proceed after confirming the worker has upheld their obligations to the current employer, as per the terms of their contract.

Concerns

The Council's decision highlights growing concerns among business owners, who have voiced frustration over workers leaving mid-contract without proper clearance, causing delays and additional costs.

With this measure now on the table, lawmakers aim to ensure fair practices while maintaining economic stability in Bahrain's labour market.

He disclosed that 51 families received compensation for fire damage in 2023, while a total of 295 families were supported over the past five years, spanning 2019 to 2023.

Al Alawi explained that financial assistance for those affected by house fires is processed through an accessible system.

Citizens can submit their claims at social development centres located across Bahrain's governorates, with compensation issued based on these applications.

The minister also highlighted

Asian man jailed for drunk driving accident

Three years behind bars for death of family member

H Naser
TDT | Manama

An Asian man has been sentenced to three years imprisonment followed by deportation for drunk driving, resulting in the death of one family member and injuries to three others.

The Court of Cassation upheld the original sentence handed down by the Lower Criminal Court.

The accident occurred on December 22, 2023, when the defendant, driving under the influence of alcohol, lost control of his vehicle on a curve, colliding with a wall and a light pole.

The impact caused fatal injuries to one passenger and serious injuries to three others, all of whom were family members.

The Public Prosecution charged the defendant with causing death by negligence due to drunk driving and failing to exercise due care and caution.

The prosecution also cited the defendant's reckless driving under the influence of alcohol, resulting in injuries and property damage.

The Lower Criminal Court initially sentenced the defendant to three years imprisonment and ordered his permanent deportation from Bahrain upon completion of his sentence.

The defendant appealed the ruling to the High Court of Appeals, which upheld the sentence. A subsequent appeal was filed with the Court of Cassation.

“The Bahrain Authority for Culture and Antiquities has frozen old properties, calling them heritage homes, but they've become ruins inhabited only by bachelors.”

Thousands of crumbling homes across Bahrain, including more than 1,200 in the Capital Governorate alone, remain in disrepair as MPs grapple with a government housing project abandoned in 2009.

The Council of Representatives debated the issue yesterday, driven by mounting concerns over unsafe homes and overcrowding.

The request to discuss the matter was submitted by MPs Jaleela Al Sayed, Dr Ali Al Nuaimi, Mahmood Fardan, Dr Hisham Al Ashiri, Abdulnabi Salman, Ahmed Qarata, Mohammed Al Olaiwi, Hanan Fardan, Basma Mubarak, and Jalal Kadhem.

Situation

First Deputy Speaker Abdulnabi Salman described the situation as dire, accusing authorities of leaving vulnerable families to fend for themselves.

“These homes are waiting for someone to rescue them,” he said, warning of a looming disaster. “In the Capital Governorate alone, over 1,200 houses are on the brink of collapse. Claiming that there's no money is no excuse.”

Second Deputy Speaker Ahmed Qarata pointed to the long delay in tackling the problem, recalling how the project was handed over to the Ministry of Housing and Urban Planning in 2012.

He dismissed piecemeal repairs as ineffective, particularly in Manama, where many houses are beyond salvage.

“They've put rain barriers on homes that are falling apart,” he said. “The Bahrain Authority for Culture and Antiquities has frozen old properties, calling them heritage homes, but they've become ruins inhabited only by bachelors.”

Conditions

Qarata shared an example of a four-room house occupied by five families, questioning how anyone could live in such conditions.

“This is unacceptable,” he said. “Which ministry will step up to fix it?”

Dr Ali Al Nuaimi added his concerns, calling on the private sector to take responsibility.

“Businesses cannot ignore this. Overcrowding, particularly among labourers, was one of the main reasons COVID-19 spread so quickly,” he said. “The project to address these dilapidated homes must be revived, and the excuse of no funding doesn't hold water.”

MP Mahmood Fardan spoke of families forced to remain in unsafe homes because they have no other choice.

“These people are clinging to the hope that this project will

The Ministry of Youth Affairs, under Her Excellency Rawan bint Najeeb Tawfiqi, has revealed allocating BD133,000 to support 38 youth centres distributed across the Kingdom of Bahrain.

● S. Korea National Assembly passes resolution calling for lifting of martial law

● S. Korea president's martial law declaration 'unconstitutional, void, and illegal': opposition leader

● S. Korea protesters chant 'Arrest Yoon Suk Yeol!' in front of parliament

AFP | Seoul, South Korea

South Korea's President Yoon Suk Yeol yesterday declared martial law, accusing the opposition of being "anti-state forces" and saying he was acting to protect the country from "threats" posed by the North.

The National Assembly was sealed late on Tuesday night and helicopters were seen landing on the roof, as army chief General Park An-su took charge as martial law commander and immediately issued a decree banning "all political activities".

Troops entered the building for a short time, while hundreds of protesters gathered outside parliament chanting: "arrest Yoon Suk Yeol" and facing off with security forces guarding parliament.

Yoon's stunning announcement -- South Korea's first declaration of martial law in more than 40 years -- came as his party and the opposition bicker over the budget.

Soldiers try to enter the National Assembly building in Seoul

"To safeguard a liberal South Korea from the threats posed by North Korea's communist forces and to eliminate anti-state elements plundering people's freedom and happiness, I hereby declare emergency martial law," Yoon said in a live televised address to the nation.

Yoon did not give details of the North's threats, but the South remains technically at war with nuclear-armed Pyongyang.

"With no regard for the livelihoods of the people, the opposition party has paralysed governance solely for the sake of impeachments, special investigations, and shielding their leader from justice," Yoon added.

"Our National Assembly has become a haven for criminals, a den of legislative dictatorship that seeks to paralyse the judicial and administrative systems and overturn our liberal democratic order," Yoon said.

With martial law imposed, all military units in the South have been ordered to strengthen their emergency alert and readiness postures, Yonhap news agency reported.

Some 190 lawmakers managed to get in to the assembly in the early hours of Wednesday, where they unanimously voted in favour of a motion to block the martial law declaration and call for its lifting.

Under the constitution, martial law must be lifted when a majority in parliament demands it, but it was not immediately clear whether this would be respected.

Democratic South Korea is a major ally for the United States in Asia, and the US State Department said it had "grave concern" about the situation.

"We are watching the recent developments in the ROK with grave concern," Campbell said, referring to South Korea by its official name, the Republic of Korea.

"We have every hope and expectation that any political disputes will be resolved peacefully and in accordance with the rule of law," he said.

'Anti-state' forces

The decree by martial law commander Park also banned "actions that deny or seek to overthrow the liberal democratic system, including the spread of fake news, public opinion manipulation, and false propaganda". The president labelled the opposition, which holds a majority in the 300-member parliament, as "anti-state forces intent on overthrowing the regime".

Yoon described the imposition of martial law as "inevitable to guarantee the continuity of a liberal South Korea," adding that it would not impact the country's foreign policy.

"I will restore the country to normalcy by getting rid of anti-state forces as soon as possible," he said, without elaborating further other than the martial law in place.

He described the current situation as South Korea "on the verge of collapse, with the National Assembly acting as a monster intent on bringing down liberal democracy".

Budget row

Yoon's People Power Party and the main opposition Democratic Party are bitterly at odds over next year's budget.

Opposition MPs last week approved a significantly downsized budget plan through a parliamentary committee.

South Korean President Yoon Suk Yeol

The opposition has slashed approximately 4.1 trillion won ($2.8 billion) from Yoon's proposed 677 trillion won budget plan, cutting the government's reserve fund and activity budgets for Yoon's office, the prosecution, police and the state audit agency.

Yoon, a former prosecutor, accused opposition lawmakers of cutting "all key budgets essential to the nation's core functions, such as combating drug crimes and maintaining public security... turning the country into a drug haven and a state of public safety chaos."

The imposition of emergency martial law came after Yoon's approval rating dropped to 19 percent in the latest Gallup poll last week, with many expressing dissatisfaction over his handling of the economy and controversies involving his wife, Kim Keon Hee.

Held in conjunction with Bahraini Women's Day, the symposium also celebrated the contributions of women to the workforce. Panellists highlighted female empowerment initiatives and applauded the growing role of Bahraini women in various industries, reinforcing the commitment to gender inclusion and equality.

Qatar's emir Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al-Thani on Tuesday begins a two-day state visit to Britain hosted by King Charles III as the UK aims to seal a trade deal with the oil-rich Gulf states.

The visit by the emir, 44, and his consort, Sheikha Jawaher bint Hamad Al Thani, will include a state banquet at Buckingham Palace and talks at Downing Street with the country's Labour Prime Minister Keir Starmer.

The government, elected in July, is hoping to conclude a free trade deal with the Gulf Cooperation Council's six nations: Bahrain, Kuwait, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, and the United Arab Emirates.

Starmer's government has staked its credibility on a pledge to grow the economy. It says a GCC free trade deal could boost the UK economy by some £1.6 billion ($2 billion) and open up lucrative markets to British firms.

US announces new $725 mn package for Ukraine including more mines

Washington, United States

The United States on Monday announced a new $725 million military aid package for Ukraine that features a second tranche of landmines as well as anti-air and anti-armor weapons.

US President Joe Biden's administration is working against the clock to provide billions of dollars in aid to Kyiv before President-elect Donald Trump takes office, after which future assistance for Ukraine will be in doubt.

Less than two months before Trump is set to be sworn in, Secretary of State Antony Blinken said in a statement that the package was part of efforts "to ensure Ukraine has the capabilities it needs to defend itself against Russian aggression."

It includes anti-personnel landmines, ammunition for HIMARS precision rocket launchers, Stinger missiles, counter-drone systems, anti-armor weapons and artillery ammunition, Blinken said in a statement.

The United States announced a first shipment of landmines to Ukraine last month - a major policy shift slammed by rights groups.

100-year-old ex-Nazi camp guard could face trial in Germany

Berlin, Germany

German authorities are pressing for a 100-year-old former Nazi concentration camp guard to face trial almost 80 years since the end of World War II.

The higher regional court in Frankfurt on Tuesday said it had overturned a decision by a lower court under which the suspect had been deemed unfit to stand trial.

The suspect, named as Gregor Formanek by German media, was charged last year with aiding and abetting murder in 3,322 cases while working at the former Sachsenhausen concentration camp near Berlin between July 1943 and February 1945.

However, an expert determined in February that Formanek was not fit to stand trial due to his mental and physical condition and the court in Hanau, Hesse state, eventually decided not to open the proceedings against him.

Gazans walk miles for bread and flour amid war shortages

TDT | agencies

Faced with major food shortages after nearly 14 months of war, Palestinians describe long days hunting for flour and bread in the conflict-ravaged Gaza Strip.

Every morning crowds form outside the few bakeries open in the Palestinian territory, as people desperately try to get a bag of bread at distribution points.

Since the outbreak of war in Gaza last year, charities and international aid organisations have repeatedly warned of crisis levels of hunger for nearly two million people.

A United Nations-backed assessment last month warned of famine looming in the northern Gaza Strip amid a near-halt in food aid after Israel launched an offensive in the area.

Essential goods like water, fresh produce and medicines are also scarce.

Gazans across the territory have told AFP in recent months how they wake up at the crack of dawn just to ensure they can get some flour or bread, with current availability reaching an all-time low.

In the southern city of Khan Yunis, AFP photographers saw dozens of people at a distribution point, bodies pressed against each other.

Over each other's heads, everyone tries to reach out as far as possible to grab the round bread.

A small child, her face covered in tears, squeezes a coin between her fingers as she makes her way through the crowd of adults.

'Nothing in markets'

"I walked about eight kilometres (five miles) to get bread," Hatem Kullab, a displaced Palestinian living in a neighbourhood of makeshift tents, told AFP.

It was in the middle of one of these crowds that two women and a child were trampled to death in a stampede at a bakery in the central Gazan city of Deir el-Balah Friday.

"To get a loaf of bread you need a whole day of eight to 10 hours," said the brother of one of the women killed, describing his sister's ordeal as she tried to get bread to feed 10 family members.

"The suffering that my sister went through is suffered by all the Palestinian people," Jameel Fayyad told AFP, criticising what he described as poor management of the bakeries.

Fayyad's anger was largely directed at Israel, but he also blamed the World Food Programme (WFP) and "traders who want to make money on the backs of people".

Palestinians from across the Gaza Strip told AFP journalists that it is extremely difficult to find the 50-kilogram (110 pounds) bags of flour that would last them several weeks before the war.

"There is no flour, no food, no vegetables in the markets," Nasser Al-Shawa, 56, said, who, like most

Trump warns 'hell to pay' if Gaza hostages not freed before his inauguration

AFP | Washington, United States

US President-elect Donald Trump on Monday warned Hamas of massive repercussions if hostages are not released by the time he takes office.

"If the hostages are not released prior to January 20, 2025, the date that I proudly assume Office as President of the United States, there will be ALL HELL TO PAY in the Middle East, and for those in charge who perpetrated these atrocities against Humanity," Trump wrote on his Truth Social platform.

"Those responsible will be hit harder than anybody has been hit in the long and storied History of the United States of America. RELEASE THE HOSTAGES NOW!"

Israel's retaliatory campaign has killed 44,429 people in Gaza, according to figures from the territory's health ministry that the United Nations considers reliable.

UN decries attacks on civilians, healthcare in Syria

AFP | Geneva, Switzerland

The United Nations on Tuesday raised the alarm over attacks on civilians and the health system in northwest Syria where surging hostilities have killed hundreds and pushed tens of thousands to flee.

The attacks around a lightning offensive by Islamist rebels, who have seized Syria's second city Aleppo, were deepening the suffering endured by millions in the country after years of civil war, the United Nations rights office said.

"UN High Commissioner for Human Rights Volker Turk is extremely concerned about the escalation in hostilities," his spokesman Jeremy Laurence told reporters in Geneva.

"This is tragic, as many have lived in misery since the outbreak of conflict nearly 14 years ago," he said.

Hamas, Fatah agree on joint committee to run post-war Gaza

AFP | Cairo, Egypt

Palestinian Islamist movement Hamas and Palestinian president Mahmud Abbas's Fatah party have agreed to create a committee to jointly administer post-war Gaza, negotiators from both sides said Tuesday.

Under the plan, which needs Abbas's approval, the committee would be composed of 10 to 15 non-partisan figures with authority on matters related to the economy, education, health, humanitarian aid and reconstruction, according to a draft of the proposal seen by AFP.

Following talks in Cairo brokered by Egypt, the two rival Palestinian movements agreed the committee would administer the Palestinian side of the Rafah crossing with Egypt, the territory's only one not shared with Israel.

Fatah's delegation, led by central party committee member Azzam al-Ahmad, will return to Ramallah Tuesday to seek Abbas's final approval, the negotiators told AFP on condition of anonymity.

Wassil Abu Yusef, member of the executive committee of the Palestine Liberation Organisation which includes Fatah, will convene later Tuesday to decide whether to approve the committee arrangement or not.

have been so heavily damaged by strikes.

'Bullet to the head'

Humanitarian aid is trickling in but aid groups have repeatedly slammed the many constraints imposed on them by Israel, which the country denies.

In the latest blow, the UN agency supporting Palestinian refugees (UNRWA) announced Sunday it was halting aid deliveries to Gaza via a key crossing point with Israel. UNRWA said delivery had become impossible, partly due to looting by gangs.

For Layla Hamad, who lives in a tent with her husband and seven children in southern Gaza's Al-Mawasi, UNRWA's decision was "like a bullet to the head".

She said her family had regularly received "a small quantity" of flour from UNRWA.

"Every day, I think we will not survive, either because we will be killed by Israeli bombing or by hunger," she said. "There is no third option."

The majority of private companies that Israel had in the past allowed to bring in food to Gaza say they are no longer able to do so.

Macron, Saudi crown prince sign strategic partnership, call for Lebanon elections

French President Emmanuel Macron disembarks his aeroplane after arriving in the Saudi capital Riyadh for an official visit

AFP | Riyadh, Saudi Arabia

President Emmanuel Macron and Saudi Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman signed a strategic partnership on Monday aimed at deepening bilateral ties and de-escalating conflict in the Middle East, including Lebanon, where the two leaders called for presidential elections.

The French leader arrived in Saudi Arabia on Monday for a three-day state visit just as a political crisis threatens to topple the French government.

After a meeting with Prince Mohammed, the de facto ruler of the oil-rich Gulf kingdom, Macron's office announced the signing of a new partnership aimed at improving cooperation in "defence, energy transition, culture, mobility between the two countries".

The two leaders also "agreed to make every effort to contribute to de-escalation in the region", including helping to consolidate the fragile ceasefire between Israel and Lebanon.

"Together, they called for the holding of presidential elections in Lebanon with the aim of bringing the Lebanese people together and carrying out the reforms necessary for the stability and security of the country," the statement from Macron's office said.

Macron touched down in the Saudi capital Riyadh in the afternoon, where he was greeted by an honour guard of sword-bearing servicemen and celebratory cannon fire as he disembarked from his plane. He did not comment on the political situation in France as he arrived.

Macron's visit began as France's less than three-month-old minority government faced the prospect of being forced out by a vote of no confidence in the coming days. Macron's three-day stay also coincides with a flare-up of violence in Syria, where anti-government rebels have seized Aleppo, the country's second-largest city.

Macron's state visit is the first by a French president to Saudi Arabia since Jacques Chirac in 2006, cementing what the presidency calls a "very close relationship".

Macron is accompanied by about 50 senior officials from major French companies including TotalEnergies, EDF and Veolia, as well as start-ups in artificial intelligence and quantum physics.

France and Saudi Arabia aim to "significantly strengthen" their economic ties to "the height of our shared ambition", the presidency said.

EU countries push for outdoor smoking and vaping bans

Brussels, Belgium

EU countries agreed Tuesday on a push for stricter anti-smoking rules, backing bans on smoking and vaping in many outdoor areas including playgrounds and cafe patios.

A recommendation inviting member states to crack down on second-hand smoke and vapour was adopted by health ministers from the bloc's 27 nations meeting in Brussels.

"Today's agreement is a crucial step towards our goal of a tobacco-free generation in Europe, and is critical in protecting our children and young people from the harmful effects of second-hand smoke," said the EU's health commissioner, Oliver Varhelyi.

The recommendation is non-binding, as health is a competence of individual member states.

Guardiola optimistic on Man City

Injury-hit champions aim to regain form despite alarming slump in recent weeks

● City loses six of last seven games, trails Liverpool by 11 points

● Guardiola confident full squad can match last season's heights

● Injuries to key players, including Rodri, De Bruyne, and Walker, impact team

Pep Guardiola says struggling Manchester City can hit the heights of recent seasons once he has all his top players back despite their alarming slump.

The defending Premier League champions have lost six of their past seven games in all competitions -- falling 11 points behind leaders Liverpool in the English top flight.

It is an extraordinary collapse for a team that have won six of the past seven Premier League titles, including the past four.

Guardiola, whose team host Nottingham Forest on Wednesday, told a pre-match press conference he was confident City's decline is not terminal.

"With all the squad this season, we'll be close to the level that we reached last season," he said yesterday.

The club have been beset by injury problems this season, most notably the loss of Ballon d'Or winner Rodri for the rest of the campaign.

A number of other key players have spent time in the treatment room including Kyle Walker, Jack Grealish, Kevin De Bruyne, Mateo Kovacic and Ruben Dias.

Guardiola described City as "magnificent" at Liverpool on Sunday despite their 2-0 defeat.

"I would say we are not far away from the team second in the Premier League (City are two points behind Arsenal)," he said.

"But always it's the way you play, the consistency you have in the boxes, and many things that give you the positive thoughts of what is going to happen in future."

Guardiola said the club would talk "internally" over whether they would bolster the squad in next month's transfer window.

He said the Brazilian had reacted well to his decision.

"Ederson number one, Stefan number two," he said. "But maybe Stefan continues. We'll see tomorrow and the next games."

Guardiola called on City's fans to help lift the team against Forest, who are sixth in the table, a point behind his men.

"Many, many good moments we've lived together," he said. "They know that we need absolute support because all of us, the players especially, are human beings."
