Dubai-based airline Emirates has banned pagers and walkie-talkies onboard its planes following sabotage attacks in Lebanon, and extended flight cancellations for Middle East destinations due to regional escalation.

"All Passengers travelling on flights to, from or via Dubai are prohibited from transporting pagers and walkie-talkies in checked or cabin baggage," the carrier said, weeks after a wave of exploding communication devices used by the Iran-backed Hezbollah group, which blamed Israel for the attacks.

In a statement posted on its website on Friday, Emirates said that "such items found in passengers' hand luggage or checked baggage will be confiscated by Dubai Police."

In a meaningful recognition of their hard work, the Education Ministry has announced the promotion of more than 130 Bahraini teachers from the role of Teacher to Senior Teacher.

The Ministry, in conjunction with the Civil Service Bureau, has taken the necessary steps to ensure that these promotions adhere to established criteria.

A ceremony to announce the names of the promoted teachers will take place this morning at the Ministry's hall in Isa Town.

This move, the Ministry emphasised, aligns with the vision of His Royal Highness Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, the Crown Prince and Prime Minister, who has long advo-

Wider war looms

Israel readying response to Iran missile attack

AFP | Jerusalem

Israel was preparing a military response to Iran's missile attack this week that heightened fears of a wider regional war, an Israeli official said yesterday, as fighting raged in Lebanon and in Gaza.

In its second-ever direct attack on its regional foe, the Islamic republic which backs armed groups across the Middle East on Tuesday launched about 200 missiles at Israel in revenge for a spate of Israeli killings of militant leaders.

The missile attack, which killed one person in the Israeli-occupied West Bank, caused some damage to an Israeli air base according to satellite images.

It came on the day Israeli ground forces began raids into Lebanon after days of intense strikes on Hezbollah strongholds across Lebanon, transforming nearly a year of cross-border exchanges with the Iran-backed militants into full-blown war.

A high-level Hezbollah source said yesterday that the group had lost contact with Hashem Safieddine, widely tipped to be the next Hezbollah leader, after air strikes this week in Beirut.

A second source close to the group also said communication had been cut off.

The movement has not yet named a new chief after Israel assassinated Hassan Nasrallah late last month in a massive strike in the Lebanese capital, triggering in part Iran's missile attack.

The Israeli military official, speaking to AFP on condition of anonymity as he was not authorised to discuss the issue publicly, said the army "is preparing a response to the unprecedented and unlawful Iranian attack".

He did not elaborate on the nature or timing of the response, which analysts and Israeli media said would likely be designed to deal an immense blow to Iran, despite international calls for de-escalation and warnings from Tehran it would retaliate.

Sina Toossi, a senior fellow at the Center for International Policy in Washington, told AFP that both Israel and Iran were "taking huge gambles".

Rapidly escalating violence this week also included intensifying Hezbollah rocket fire and strikes on Israel claimed by allies of Iran from as far away as Yemen, just before the first anniversary of Hamas's October 7 unprecedented attack on Israel.

Seeds of change

Heat-resistant tree-planting campaign takes root in Southern Bahrain

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Heat-resistant seedlings were handed out in Isa Town over the weekend as part of Bahrain's national drive to green its urban spaces — offering residents not only shade but a chance to reshape their neighbourhoods.

MP Maryam Al Dhaen, along with officials from the Southern Governorate and Italian Ambassador to Bahrain, H.E. Andrea Catalano, met with locals at Isa Town's Rubber Walkway.

The gathering saw the distribution of seedlings, including neem and acacia, while residents were briefed on accessing services like online consultations and expert advice.

Some 600 seedlings are being distributed to residents of Isa Town under the campaign, which is part of a wider effort to expand green areas across the kingdom.

"It's essential that we raise awareness of how trees can help combat rising temperatures caused by global warming," MP Al Dhaen told The Daily Tribune. "Residents are keen to learn about the different species, how to plant them, and the best methods for watering."

She also mentioned plans for parliamentary discussions to introduce laws supporting more tree planting, aiming to cool the country and promote sustainability.

Community participation is at the heart of this initiative.

Future

"We've focused on five types of trees that are well-suited to the local climate, shedding fewer leaves and requiring less maintenance. We want children to get involved in the planting, as this is their future too," MP Al Dhaen said.

Local resident Amina expressed her excitement: "I've recently taken an interest in planting Bougainvillea in my garden because of their lovely appearance. If we include these types of plants, I'm sure more people will take up gardening."

Abdullah, a schoolteacher from the area, noted the cultural importance of tree planting, saying: "Bringing back the tradition of planting trees in our communities is vital. It's part of our heritage, something Bahrainis have valued for generations."

MP Al Dhaen pointed out that the selected trees are expected to provide shade through vertical growth, contributing to lower temperatures in urban areas.

Greening initiative

This ambitious greening initiative promises various benefits for Bahrain's residents.

Increased tree cover is expected to mitigate the urban heat island effect, potentially reducing energy consumption for cooling and enhancing overall comfort.

The creation of green spaces also offers opportunities for community engagement, recreational activities, and improved biodiversity. Furthermore, the initiative aligns with Bahrain's broader sustainability goals, contributing to a healthier environment and a more resilient future for generations to come.

Parliamentary efforts are also underway to support this green initiative.

"We regularly meet with the Minister of Municipalities, Wael Al Mubarak, to discuss agriculture projects. This includes offering workshops, visiting schools, and even setting up training academies to teach families how to care for their gardens," she explained.

Agricultural education

Additionally, these parliamentary moves align with the Ministry of Education's plans to enhance agricultural education in schools, raising a generation that understands the value of food security and sustainability.

Work on Al Mara'iq Park in Block 809, Isa Town, is set to begin later this year, with tenders already in progress.

"It's part of a bigger plan to turn Isa Town into a green hub, replacing empty spaces with vibrant greenery," MP Al Dhaen added.

Ambassador Catalano praised the initiative, telling The Daily Tribune: "I fully support efforts to encourage a culture of tree planting and a love of nature. I'm looking forward to more events like this."

Sustainability

Catalano also recognised Bahrain's broader efforts: "This campaign is an important step in addressing sustainability and the challenge of global warming. I'm hopeful for greater cooperation between our nations in this field."

He added: "I've chosen two plants to take home with me."

Support for afforestation runs all the way to the top, with backing from His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa, as well as directives from His Royal Highness the Prime Minister to secure state funding to create more green spaces.

The initiative is part of the national afforestation plan aiming to double the number of trees by 2035, increasing from 1.8 million to 3.6 million trees and planting 130,000 trees each year.

This initiative aims to reshape the workings of Bahrain's governance, drawing from the successes of the previous year's digital efforts.

Free gym access lands receptionist in jail

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

A receptionist at a popular gym in Ramli Mall has been sentenced to three months in jail after allowing customers to work out for free and pocketing the losses.

The court also ordered her deportation following her conviction for embezzling funds and tampering with company records.

The gym's owner, represented by lawyer Essam Al Tayeb, filed the complaint, accusing the former employee of falsifying attendance logs and giving non-paying clients access to the facilities.

The fraudulent scheme reportedly ran from mid-June 2022 to December 2023, during her time as a receptionist.

Attendance records

Court documents reveal that she doctored attendance records to cover up her absences, while also allowing several gym-goers to train without paying membership fees or after their subscriptions had lapsed. This led to financial damage for the gym.

The gym owner also accused her of stealing written warnings and key company documents, some of which contained sensitive information about employees, suppliers, and customers, before she fled to the Philippines.

Furthermore, she was said to have shirked her duties by engaging in disputes with members and failing to distribute membership cards.

Protocols

Adding to the chaos, the accused allegedly kept her own salary receipt book instead of following company protocols, which only worsened the financial mess caused by her actions.

Under Article 424 of the Bahraini Penal Code, which addresses embezzlement by employees, the court delivered its judgement.

The case also invoked Article 395, which covers breach of trust, defining it as the misuse or theft of property entrusted to an individual under a contract.

Bahraini man acquitted of assaulting domestic worker after Appeals Court casts doubt on accusation

H Naser
TDT | Manama

A Bahraini man has been acquitted of assaulting a domestic worker following an appeal hearing in the High Appeals Court.

The court overturned a previous three-year prison sentence, citing inconsistencies in the complainant's testimony.

The defendant's lawyer, Dina Al Qamish, argued that the complainant's statements were contradictory.

She presented evidence suggesting the domestic worker, who was employed on an hourly basis, had initiated contact with the defendant and then attempted to extort him for financial gain.

The initial trial found the defendant guilty of sexual assault without consent, based on the domestic worker's accusations.

However, Al Qamish successfully argued several points on appeal.

She highlighted the implausibility of the complainant's account, particularly in light of text messages showing the complainant had arranged to meet the defendant and requested personal items, suggesting consent.

The complainant attempted to justify these messages by claiming she was only trying to buy time.

Inconsistencies

Al Qamish further pointed out inconsistencies in the complainant's claims that she was unable to contact the police or friends for help because of a lack of phone signal, despite being able to text the defendant while he was on the second floor.

She also noted the complainant's claim that the defendant locked her in, despite her being on the ground floor with several windows providing easy escape.

Al Qamish emphasized that the defendant had gone to shower before the alleged assault, giving the complainant ample opportunity to leave or call for help.

Al Qamish argued that the complainant had initiated contact with the defendant, suggesting a massage and then requesting the use of personal items beforehand.

She contended that the text messages clearly indicated the complainant's consent.

Insufficient evidence

The lawyer also pointed to insufficient evidence, relying solely on the complainant's testimony.

She highlighted that forensic medical reports supported the defendant's account, indicating an attempt by the complainant to extort him financially.

Al Qamish noted that the complainant had even stolen the defendant's iPad, leading to a confrontation when he refused her demands.

The High Appeals Court, finding significant doubt in the complainant's account, ultimately acquitted the defendant.

Family awarded BD12,000 after crash

TDT | Manama

A Bahraini family has been awarded over BD12,000 in compensation following a traffic accident caused by a reckless driver who ran a red light.

Both the driver and his insurance company were held jointly liable for the significant damages by the High Civil Court.

The accident, which left the father, mother, and child with varying degrees of permanent disability, occurred when the family was traveling in their own lane.

The negligent driver, who was subsequently found guilty in a criminal court and fined BD1,000, collided with their vehicle.

According to the case files, medical assessments determined the father sustained a 3% permanent disability, the mother 7%, and their minor child 10%, all due to injuries from the impact.

The family's lawyer had initially sought BD1,500 in compensation for his client's injuries, BD200 for his wife's emotional distress, and BD6,000 for his son's injuries, plus BD4,200 for his wife's physical injuries.

Driver's culpability

The lawyer also argued that the criminal court's judgment should be considered in the civil case, highlighting the driver's culpability.

He further emphasized the insurance company's responsibility under Bahrain's Compulsory Insurance Law No. 3 of 1987, which mandates compensation for victims of accidents involving insured vehicles.

The court's decision detailed the injuries suffered by each family member and the corresponding compensation awarded.

Trial set for trafficking two victims

TDT | Manama

The Public Prosecutor's Office for Human Trafficking has announced the referral of a defendant to trial on charges of human trafficking.

The referral follows an investigation launched after a report from Anti-trafficking Directorate within the General Directorate of Criminal Investigations and Forensic Evidence.

The report alleged that the defendant illegally detained and exploited two victims, using coercion and threats to force them into illicit activities.

The Public Prosecutor's Office immediately launched an investigation upon receiving the report.

This included taking statements from both victims and interrogating the defendant, confronting him with the evidence gathered.

It also seeks to foster creative exchange with the Kingdom of Bahrain, including opportunities for artists from both countries to hold joint exhibitions and workshops.

The Spectrum series offers a contemporary perspective on Islamic art's 'rules of repetition', seamlessly merging traditional aesthetic principles with echoes of modern Arab architecture.

Similarly, the Waves series pays homage to Bahrain's maritime history, intertwining rhythmic repetition with the island's cultural heritage.

Delicate journey

Lastly, Les Roses de Bagatelle embarks on a delicate journey inspired by the flora of Château de Bagatelle, reflecting Rashid's contemplation on the rose as both a natural entity and a metaphor.

This diverse collection of artworks embodies Rashid's artistic evolution, invoking notions of rhythm, purity, and ephemerality.

Expressing his anticipation for the exhibition, Rashid Al Khalifa shared, "I am delighted to bring my works to Sofia and to share my artistic journey with the audience in Bulgaria. 'Continuum' represents a celebration of tradition, culture, and the ever-evolving nature of art, and I am honored to present these pieces in this beautiful city. Through these series, I aim to bridge the legacy of cultural heritage with a contemporary perspective, inviting viewers to immerse themselves in a symphony of tradition and modernity."

Commenting, the Credo Bonum curator Vessela Nozharova said: "Rashid Al Khalifa's artistic journey has evolved through various phases, from deeply emotional figurative painting to abstract compositions, and eventually to large-scale outdoor sculptures where he boldly experiments with materials, colors, and symbols. His work is always unique and captivating, continuously engaging in a dynamic dialogue with the audience. The works we have the privilege to showcase here in Sofia were created in recent years, where the beauty of the sea, sky, and desert, and a deep reverence for nature, have been masterfully distilled into their most refined form."

Credo Bonum Foundation, established in 2006 by Tzvetelina Borislavova, is an independent non-governmental organization striving for positive change in modern society, focusing on sustainability, environmentalism, and spreading positive thinking and attitude in society.

A slight respite for responders

Civil Defense Directorate teams attend to 1,248 emergency calls for service in August

H Naser
TDT | Manama

The Civil Defense Directorate has released its latest report, indicating a slight decrease in the number of emergency calls received during the month of August when compared to the previous month of July.

In July, the total number of incidents reported reached a significant 1,260, whereas August saw a total of 1,248 calls for service.

Despite this minor decline in overall call volume, the figure still represents a considerable and demanding workload for emergency responders, who remain vigilant and ready to assist the community in times of need.

Variety of incidents

The data from July indicated a variety of incidents, categorised as follows: there were 605 calls for assistance, 200 fire-related incidents, 81 traffic accidents, and 7 incidents involving falls from trees, signs, or other objects.

This variety underscores the diverse challenges that emergency services face.

In August, while the overall number of emergency calls showed a slight reduction, the breakdown of the types of inci-idents revealed some noteworthy trends that merit attention.

Assistance calls

Specifically, assistance calls saw a decrease, dropping from 605 in July to a total of 594 in August.

This reduction in assistance calls may suggest a variety of factors, including changes in community needs or perhaps improved preventative measures.

Fire-related incidents also experienced a decrease, falling from 200 in July to 186 in August.

This decline could be attributed to successful fire prevention initiatives or seasonal changes that affect the likelihood of such incidents occurring.

Traffic accidents

On the other hand, traffic accidents saw an increase, jumping from 81 in July to 92 in August.

This rise in road incidents is concerning and may reflect growing traffic volumes or other contributing factors that need to be addressed.

Interestingly, the number of incidents involving falls from trees, signs, or other objects also saw an increase, rising to 10 in the month of August.

Although overall call volume has seen a slight decrease, it still poses a significant and challenging workload for emergency responders.

◆ Elon Musk's X has paid millions of dollars in fines in Brazil to settle a row with a judge who banned the platform in its biggest Latin American market over disinformation. But the platform transferred the money into the wrong account. Supreme Court Justice Alexandre de Moraes, who ordered the shutdown of X in August, said Friday, X, formerly known as Twitter, racked up $5.2 million in fines for failing to comply with a series of court orders. Moraes confirmed that the social network had paid the full amount but into a different account from the one on the court order and said it had ordered that the funds be immediately redirected. Moraes blocked X on August 31 after Musk refused to remove dozens of right-wing accounts accused of spreading disinformation and failed to name a legal representative in the country as ordered. X, which had 22 million users in Brazil before Moraes blocked it, hopes that payment of the penalties will settle the dispute.

Gauff battles into China Open final

Coco Gauff battles past Paula Badosa, faces Karolina Muchova in Sunday's final

● Gauff defeats Badosa 4-6, 6-4, 6-2 in semis

● Faces Karolina Muchova in the final

● Gauff struggled with 11 double-faults but found her form late

AFP | Beijing

Coco Gauff fought back from a set down to battle into the China Open final yesterday setting up a showdown with party-pooper Karolina Muchova.

The American former US Open champion beat Spain's Paula Badosa 4-6, 6-4, 6-2 to close on an eighth title.

The 20-year-old faces Muchova after the 49th-ranked Czech silenced a capacity Beijing crowd to beat Olympic champion Zheng Qinwen in straight sets.

Sixth-ranked Gauff has struggled for form in recent months and split with coach Brad Gilbert after her US Open defence ended in the last 16 in a blur of double-faults.

Gauff struggled again with her serve against Badosa, racking up 11 double-faults.

But she belatedly found a semblance of top form to down the former world number two in two hours, 20 minutes.

With a new coaching set-up in place, Gauff said that she had not really expected to be in the final.

"Has this week been my best tennis? In moments, yes," said Gauff, the youngest player to reach the China Open decider since Caroline Wozniacki in 2010.

Coco Gauff has won both of her previous meetings against Karolina Muchova, including their US Open semi-final last year

Karolina Muchova is the lowest-ranked player (49th) to reach the China Open final since the tournament's inception in 2004

"I think today I reached some levels where I was playing my best tennis. Obviously, that's not the case for the whole match."

The 19th-ranked Badosa broke in the fifth game of the first set as Gauff's problems with her serve resurfaced.

The eighth game was mammoth, with Gauff finally converting her eighth break point, and she celebrated by putting both arms in the air.

The jubilation was short-lived, as Badosa broke back immediately and sealed the set on her third set point when Gauff overhit a simple forehand return.

Badosa broke once more to start the second set and Gauff was in danger of losing her cool, whacking the sole of her foot with her racquet as she fell 2-0 down.

Gauff recovered her poise to twice break the Spaniard and take the set against a suddenly rattled Badosa.

It was the first set Badosa had dropped in Beijing and Gauff took that ascendancy into the deciding set as her opponent faded fast.

Gauff's only title of the year so far came in Auckland in January.

Muchova ousts Zheng

In the other semi-final, Muchova disappointed the 15,000 crowd to beat a subdued Zheng 6-3, 6-4.

The Czech is the lowest-ranked player to reach the Beijing final since the tournament began in 2004.

Last year's French Open finalist toppled top seed Aryna Sabalenka in the quarter-finals on Friday.

She eased through the first set against Paris gold medallist Zheng and was unrelenting in the second to ram home her advantage.

Serving to stay in the tournament, the 21-year-old Zheng dug deep to save two match points in the ninth game, but the reprieve was only very brief.

The 28-year-old Muchova was inside the top 10 this time last year but did not play for nearly 10 months after having wrist surgery.

She is pursuing only the second title of her career.

Gauff has won both their previous two meetings, most recently in the US Open semi-finals last year on the way to clinching her first major crown.

Root looking beyond England run record in first Pakistan Test

AFP | London

Star batter Joe Root said yesterday he hopes to blast past Alistair Cook's record career haul of runs for England in the first Test match against Pakistan next week.

The 33-year-old needs just 71 more to overhaul Cook's 12,472, and if his run spree continues he may become the new record-holder in the match starting on Monday in Multan.

"I'd like to get more than that in this game," he said of Cook's record. "I feel like I'm going to be playing for a good while past it, so it's not really a focus."

Root is a veteran of 146 Tests and already holds the record for hitting the most hundreds for England with 34 -- half of them since 2020.

He may now be eyeing the international record of 15,921 held by India's Sachin Tendulkar.

Djokovic 'shakes rust off' to make third round of Shanghai Masters

Novak Djokovic in action
AFP | Shanghai

Novak Djokovic said it took time to "get the rust off" as he fought through two tiebreaks to make his way into the third round of the Shanghai Masters yesterday.

The Serbian beat American Alex Michelsen in a thrilling two-set match that finished 7-6 (7/3), 7-6 (11/9).

Meanwhile Jannik Sinner and Carlos Alcaraz showed why they were top in the world as they raced through to the next stage with confident straight-set wins.

Sinner dispatched Japan's Taro Daniel 6-1, 6-4, while Alcaraz made short work of China's Shang Juncheng, winning 6-2, 6-2.

Four-time Shanghai champion Djokovic did not have it quite so easy against 43rd ranked Michelsen.

Introduced as the "Greatest Of All Time" as he walked onto the court, he received a rapturous welcome from the packed stadium.

But Michelsen started the first set strongly, breaking Djokovic early and going 1-4 up -- to the displeasure of the crowd, fully behind the 37-year-old former world number one.

To their delight, the Serbian levelled, and then hit his stride in the tiebreak, winning it 7-3.

The reverse happened in the second set when it was 20-year-old Michelsen's turn to catch up to take it to the tiebreak.

Djokovic admitted to being "surprised" by Michelsen.

Liverpool edge Palace to stay top

Arsenal, Manchester City rally for wins; Liverpool stay top of Premier League with narrow Palace victory

● Liverpool wins ninth game under new manager Arne Slot

● Arsenal overcomes Southampton 3-1 with late goals

● Man City defeats Fulham 3-2 in high-scoring match

AFP | London

Liverpool beat Crystal Palace 1-0 to remain top of the Premier League as Arsenal and Manchester City came from behind to win yesterday.

City were 3-2 victors over Fulham to stay one point behind Liverpool, alongside Arsenal who saw off Southampton 3-1.

Arne Slot has now won nine of his first 10 games since succeeding Jurgen Klopp as Liverpool manager, but was frustrated that the visitors invited a late onslaught from the winless Eagles.

Jota prodded the Reds into the lead from Cody Gakpo's cross on nine minutes.

Liverpool's Portuguese striker #20 Diogo Jota (R) shoots past Crystal Palace's English goalkeeper #01 Dean Henderson (C) to score the opening goal

The Portuguese international was then guilty of missing two big chances to extend Liverpool's advantage.

Palace failed to make them pay, but victory came at a cost for Slot as goalkeeper Alisson

Becker limped off with a hamstring injury.

"If you score the second you break them mentally," said Slot. "All the fans kept believing in a result because it was only 1-0, even though in my opinion we were the dominant team."

Fresh from a dominant win over Paris Saint-Germain in the Champions League, Arsenal were expected to sweep aside winless Southampton.

But the Saints shocked the Emirates 10 minutes into the second half when Cameron Archer fired in his first Premier League goal since a summer move from Aston Villa.

The lead only lasted three minutes before Kai Havertz scored for the seventh consecutive home game.

Gabriel Martinelli was introduced after an hour and took just eight minutes to make his mark with a finish on the volley from Bukayo Saka's cross.

Having set up Arsenal's first two goals, Saka pounced on a loose ball to score the third himself.

Fulham's outrageous opener

Rodri's season-long absence due to a serious knee injury is expected to be a major blow to City's chances of retaining the title for a fifth consecutive season.

But it was the Spaniard's deputy Mateo Kovacic who scored twice to turn the game around for the champions at the Etihad.

The visitors had not lost since the opening night of the season at Manchester United and led thanks to Andreas Pereira's finish from an outrageous backheel

YOU KNOW WHAT

Arne Slot has won nine of his first 10 games as Liverpool manager, a remarkable start since succeeding Jurgen Klopp assist by Raul Jimenez.

Kovacic's deflected effort quickly brought City level before a cleaner strike less than two minutes into the second half made it 2-1.

Jeremy Doku then smashed into the top corner from outside the box to give City a two-goal cushion, which they needed.

Rodrigo Muniz gave Fulham hope on 88 minutes, but City held out for a 17th consecutive win against the Cottagers.

West Ham eased the pressure on new boss Julen Lopetegui by ending a run of three home defeats to start the new season.
