Three women face trafficking charges

TDT | Manama

The Public Prosecution has concluded its investigation into a human trafficking case and referred three female defendants to the Criminal Court, according to the Chief Public Prosecutor of the Anti-Human Trafficking Prosecution.

The investigation was launched following a report from the Anti-Human Trafficking Department alleging that the three defendants trafficked five victims.

The victims were allegedly forced into illegal activities and exploited in acts contrary to public morals, with the defendants profiting from their exploitation.

The Chief Public Prosecutor stated that the Public Prosecution immediately launched an investigation upon receiving the report.

The investigation included taking statements from the five victims, who were placed in a shelter.

He emphasised that the amendment supports national efforts to prioritize Bahraini citizens for job opportunities and to curb the influx of foreign workers, which he argues contributes to unemployment in the Kingdom.

The proposed amendment will now go through the parliamentary process for consideration and debate.

Seven on trial for major human trafficking and drug ring

TDT | Manama

The High Criminal Court is hearing the case against seven defendants accused of running a largescale human trafficking and drug operation.

The charges, spanning events from 2024, involve the exploitation of four women forced into prostitution.

The prosecution alleges that three Asian women formed a criminal group, trafficking and exploiting four victims.

The women were allegedly transported between multiple apartments, held against their will, and forced into prostitution to pay off fabricated debts.

Consent

Prosecutors argue that the victims' circumstances rendered any apparent consent invalid.

The defendants are also charged with coercion, deception, and inciting prostitution.

Further charges against six of the defendants involve directly profiting from the victims' forced labour.

Additionally, several defendants face drug-related charges, including cannabis use and trafficking.

Charges

Specifically, the fourth and fifth defendants are charged with cannabis use, the sixth with using cannabis and another substance, and the seventh with supplying and possessing can-

Citizens and residents are advised to prepare for strong winds, from 2pm to

This was announced yesterday by the Meteorology Department at the Ministry of Transport and Communications via its official platforms.

The department emphasised that October and November typically mark the onset of weather fluctuations, and with several supporting elements present over the next two days, local formations are expected to develop in areas adjacent to Bahrain today and tomorrow.

According to the official weather bulletin, the maximum temperature today is forecasted to reach no higher than 36 degrees Celsius.

Humid conditions are expected to transition to partly cloudy skies at times, with relatively warm temperatures during the day.

Winds will generally be easterly, ranging from 5 to 10 knots, increasing to 12 to 17 knots, with gusts potentially reaching 25 knots later in the day.

he issue of consumer protection, is very important from legal perspective particularly with reference to business contracts because most of these contracts relate to sale of goods needed by consumers. There are many legal principles governing this aspect. However, in this connection we refer to one of the legal doctrines which has been taken from the Roman legal principles. This important legal doctrine is "caveat emptor, or, let the buyer beware" and applies exclusively on sale of goods contracts. A type of contract that we, as consumers, need to live with everyday many times.

A sale of goods contract is generally defined as "a contract by which the seller transfers or agrees to transfer the property in goods to the buyer for a money consideration called the price." This definition in fact applies to all types of goods , being big consignment or small units . Goods needed by wholesale merchants

A contract for sale of goods, normally, implies many warranties. The warranties include, the goods are free from any charges of encumbrances, or in other words they are free from any sort of third party rights, not made known to the buyer before concluding the contract and that the buyer will enjoy quiet possession.

In case the contract for the sale of goods is by description, there is an implied condition that the goods will correspond with the description if the buyer does not see the goods before he buys them, for example, from a mail order catalogue or through correspondence form the internet, in such examples, we could clearly say that there has been sale of goods by description.

Electronic commerce through the internet is a good example for sale of goods by description, in this connection it is important to mention that The International Chamber of Commerce and others are working hard to regularize e-commerce including sale of goods via the internet.

The description of the goods may cover many matters such as siz, quality, quantity, weight, ingredients, origin or even how they are to be packed. All such implied conditions are to apply in sale of goods.

Naomi Osaka pulls out of Japan Open with back injury

m F}$ our-time Grand Slam champion Naomi Osaka yesterday pulled out of her home Japan Open next week because of an injury that caused her to retire from the China Open in Beijing.

"Due to injury, Naomi Osaka will not participate" in the WTA 250 tournament in the city of Osaka from October 14-20, the Japan Tennis Association said in a statement.

The 26-year-old former world number one looked in good touch as she recorded three wins at the China Open in Beijing last week. But in her last-16 match, Naomi Osaka in action against eventual champion Coco Gauff, Osaka retired at the end of the second set because of a back injury.

"So I locked my back up during practice earlier and honestly wasn't sure if I could even play but I just wanted to try," she said on social media.

"Unfortunately things just got progressively worse during the match."

kipper Shan Masood and opener Abdullah Shafique both cracked centuries as Pakistan scored an impressive 328-4 on the opening day of the first Test against England in Multan yesterday.

Masood's brilliant 151 was his first hundred for four years, while Shafique also returned to form with 102 as the pair put on a solid 253-run stand for the second wicket after Pakistan won the toss and batted.

England, led by Ollie Pope in the absence of the injured Ben Stokes, briefly fought back when they removed both Masood and Shafique in the space of just two runs in the third session.

The visitors then took the second new ball at 308-3 and

The visitors thought they had a second when pace bowler Brydon Carse, on debut, trapped Masood in front on 16 and umpire Kumar Dharmasena gave him out.

However, a review showed the ball had pitched outside the leg stump.

Masood went on the attack against Shoaib Bashir, hitting the off-spinner for four boundaries before two more off Atkinson took him to his 11th Test fifty.
