Turkish Embassy stops accepting donations

Julia Cassano TDT | Manama

The Turkey Embassy in Bahrain announced yesterday that they will stop receiving donations of food and clothes due to the extraordinary number of items donated, thanks to the Bahraini citizens and residents.

They released an official statement on their social media pages, saying: "For the time being, we won't be able to accept any further donations of goods, other than specific items suitable for winter conditions. The aid materials listed below are primarily needed including, winter tents, blankets, heaters, generators, and sleeping bags.

As thousands are left displaced and homeless, families are in dire need to keep warm in freezing temperatures which makes items listed above crucial for their survival.
