

Brilliant artworks on display at 'Visual Translations' expo

Sudeep Deshpande

Sudeep Deshpande's artwork titled "Us & Them-0025"

Richa Maurya

Richa Maury's artwork titled "Nightingales of Bahrain"

Lata Unnikrishnan

Lata Unnikrishnan's artwork titled "Radhe Krishna"

Niju Joy's artwork

Niju Joy

Saira Ranj's artwork titled "Bahrain Sails"

Saira Ranj

Praseetha Ullas' artwork

Praseetha Ullas

● Event set for Feb 20-28

TDT | Manama

The stage is set for the "Visual Translations" art exhibition in the Kingdom of Bahrain. The event is organised by The Daily Tribune and the Indian Fine Arts Society in association with Bahrain Art Hub (BAH).

The Indian Ambassador, H.E. Piyush Srivastava, will be officially inaugurating the event on 20 February at 6 pm. Mr Nayef Al Sherooqi, Director of Human and Financial resources Ministry of Interior, will be the guest of honour. The paintings will be displayed at The Daily Tribune's office at McIndeez Tower in Umm Al Hasam from 20 to 28 February and will be opened for visitors.

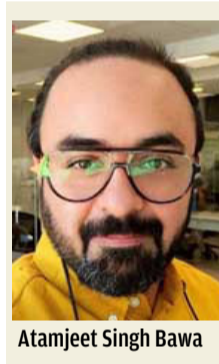

Bahrain Art Hub is an artist group comprising Indian artists

Sagar Adkar

Sagar Adkar's artwork titled "Portrait"

Atamjeet Singh Bawa

Atamjeet Singh Bawa's paper artwork

Tejbir Singh's artwork

Tejbir Singh

Mohamed Taha's artwork

Mohamed Taha

Atamjeet Singh Bawa, Niju Joy, Sagar Adkar, Saira Ranj, Sudeep

Deshpande, Tejbir Singh and Bahraini artist Mohamed Taha.

The art exhibition is a compilation of various artists with us to show our paintings and believing in us," he added.

The Indian Fine Arts Society, popularly known as IFAS, was established in 1974 and has always been committed to its social obligation of spreading the message of love and brotherhood beyond boundaries through the promotion of arts and culture. It endeavours to soul-filling music, vibrant classical dances, painting, drama, and other classical art forms.

IFAS continues to accept and integrate many cultural events in the best possible way in Bahrain. IFAS has been a pioneer in organising an Indo-Bahrain cultural programme.

their individualistic working techniques and approaches towards art.

"The Daily Tribune gives all the artists a great opportunity to show our strength and talents and positively impact the Bahrain art movements," Taha said.

"I would like to thank The Daily Tribune for supporting and allowing us to show our paintings and

It has always been instrumental in bringing world-class Indian artists to this island. In recognition of IFAS's commitment to promoting classical arts, the Indian Embassy has designated IFAS to represent India at the International Music Festival in Bahrain on several occasions.

For more information contact Mr. Boban Idiculla on 39456914.

Two 'seriously ill' expats return home safely

● Social workers step in to support them

Zahra Ayaz
TDT | Manama

As part of the various social welfare initiatives by Annai Tamil Mandram, the team helped two patients who were struggling with serious medical conditions to return safely to their hometown.

Murugan Sadaiyandi, 42, and Subramani Santhaiah, 39, were suffering from stroke and taking treatment at the Salmaniya Medical Complex (SMC) for the last six months.

They were battling to return to their native country while being hospitalised. Social workers contacted them and took the initiative to arrange for their return to India.

The home-bound patients with Annai Tamil Mandram and the team

Murugan Sadaiyandi, 42, and Subramani Santhaiah, 39, were suffering from stroke and taking treatment at the Salmaniya Medical Complex (SMC) for the last six months.

They followed up with various departments. Through the help of the Tamil Nadu government, the social workers worked in the Kingdom to obtain the required travel documents and receive medical care from the SMC until they were sent back to India.

With all the efforts and support, both patients reached home safely yesterday.

Speaking to The Daily Tribune, Mr Senthil GK, President, Annai Tamil Mandram, said, "I am grateful to the Bahrain government authorities, H.E. Piyush Srivastava, Ambassador Embassy of India, and Indian Embassy officials, ICRF, HOPE team, PLC, World NRI Council, Salmaniya hospital authorities, Tamil Nadu government and officials and Air India team.

"We sincerely thank each and every one who helped, supported and guided us through this entire process and ensured the safe travel of both the patients with the needed medical support."