EU-GCC: A New Era

HRH the Crown Prince and Prime Minister delivers historic address at first EU-Gulf Cooperation Council Summit

TDT | Manama

In a historic moment of diplomatic engagement, His Royal Highness Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, Crown Prince and Prime Minister of the Kingdom of Bahrain, delivered a powerful address at the first-ever European Union (EU)-Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) Summit in Brussels.

Representing His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa, HRH Prince Salman underscored the urgency of collaboration between the EU and GCC, highlighting shared challenges and the need for coordinated action on global issues.

The following address was made by His Royal Highness the Crown Prince and Prime Minister:

Your Highnesses and Excellencies,

On behalf of His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa, it is a privilege to participate in this inaugural EU-GCC Summit.

This Summit represents a historic milestone in our relationship, marking not just a meeting of nations, but a convergence of shared aspirations for international stability, peace, and prosperity.

We gather here today at a crucial moment in history, as our shared goals and values are under threat. There have been tectonic shifts in the geopolitical order and as a result our regions are affected by severe conflicts, and with them the inevitable toll of humanitarian crises.

Your Highnesses and Excellencies,

Both the GCC and the EU were founded on principles of cooperation, with a shared vision of fostering security, economic prosperity and regional unity. In this spirit, we must also ensure that our efforts lead to stronger and deeper partnerships of like-minded countries around the world.

HRH Prince Salman with European leaders at the event

This is particularly true at this moment in history.

The crises we face today are more complex and intertwined than those faced when the current global multilateral framework was established eighty years ago.

In Europe, we continue to witness widespread suffering as the intractable conflict in Ukraine persists. In the Middle East, the devastating events unfolding demand our attention and urgent action. The human cost of these conflicts is staggering, and with every moment of delay, these conflicts deepen and spread, threatening regional stability and human well-being across the globe.

In the Middle East, we must urgently see the implementation of an immediate ceasefire in Gaza, the release of all hostages, and the adoption of an irrevocable path to the creation of a viable, independent Palestinian state. We have said it and we say it again, it is imperative to break the current escalatory cycle in the region and to avoid a wider regional conflict. Likewise, in Europe, we must see an end to aggression and the achievement of a just and lasting peace.

Now is the moment to work together to build a more resilient framework that can address these evolving challenges and ensure long-term security, stability, and prosperity that all nations rightfully deserve.

Now is the moment to pursue holistic, consensus-driven reforms within all our global institutions, including the United Nations, the UN Security Council, the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank to guarantee their responsiveness to evolving, real-world challenges that are happening now.

It is in this spirit of partnership that His Majesty King Hamad has called on the international community to convene an international peace conference on the Middle East. The Kingdom of Bahrain urges all nations to join us in this vital initiative — one which seeks to strengthen efforts to achieve a just, comprehensive, and lasting peace in the region.

Together, we can accomplish far more than we ever could individually.

Your Highnesses and Excel-

The path ahead is not without obstacles, but by working together and by enhancing existing partnerships, we will build a future defined by peace, prosperity, and shared purpose together⁹⁹

lencies,

The GCC and the EU have made significant progress in expanding trade ties in recent years, with the EU now standing as the GCC's largest trading bloc — a testament to the strength of our relationship.

On the economic front, we are committed to advancing discussions on the EU-GCC Free Trade Agreement, which will further deepen trade and investment ties, while unlocking the vast potential offered by green and digital transitions.

On security, the EU and GCC are united in our commitment to building a strategic partnership that elevates our collaboration to new heights, and we welcome the EU-GCC Regional Security Dialogue, which launched in Riyadh this year.

As we also contend with escalating impacts of climate change, rising trade barriers, and the rapidly evolving digital and technological landscape, our world requires a committed and coordinated global effort to channel the resources and establish the governance mechanisms to deliver meaningful and sustainable impact.

The path ahead is not without obstacles, but by working together and by enhancing existing partnerships, we will build a future defined by peace, prosperity, and shared purpose together.

Thank you.

During the Summit, several presidents and senior delegations delivered speeches, reaffirming their countries' commitment to advancing cooperation and addressing mutual aspirations, including security, stability, and development.

Several senior officials also attended.

Relief as 161 abandoned vehicles hauled away

A major cleanup operation in Northern Governorate
TDT | Manama

Rusted cars left abandoned across the Northern Governorate have finally been cleared, as authorities hauled away 161 vehicles in a focused operation.

The Northern Area Municipality targeted the Salmabad and Hamala industrial areas, enforcing legal measures against vehicle owners under public cleanliness laws.

Officials voiced concern over the environmental damage caused by the abandoned vehicles, which also block roads and spoil the appearance of the area.

They pledged to continue inspections and raise awareness, urging car owners to take responsibility for vehicles left

The municipality called on residents and businesses to cooperate in removing these unsightly wrecks, stressing that joint efforts are needed to keep the streets clear of this ongoing issue.

Expats' worries over driving licence eased

Government rejects parliament proposal for minimum salary requirement

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Expats in Bahrain can breathe a sigh of relief as the government rejected a proposed minimum salary requirement for obtaining a driving licence.

Concerns over a potential BD500 threshold, similar to a proposal dismissed in 2014, were addressed in a recent letter to Members of Parliament.

The government confirmed that existing regulations are sufficient, citing current residency checks and ongoing initiatives to tackle traffic congestion through a ministerial committee led by the Minister of Interior.

This decision positively impacts thousands of expats living and working in Bahrain.

In a letter to MPs, the government confirmed it had reviewed the proposal, which suggested tightening the criteria for issuing licences to non-Bahrainis, including the proposed salary requirement.

Image used for illustrative purposes only

It stated, "The existing executive regulations of the Traffic Law adequately cover the issuance of driving licences to expats."

The government also pointed out that residency requirements are already verified by the Information & eGovernment Authority (IGA) before any applications are processed.

As for the second part of the proposal, which aimed to address traffic congestion, the government noted that His Royal Highness Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, the Crown Prince and Prime Minister, had already ordered the formation of a ministerial committee, chaired by the Minister of Interior, to tackle the issue.

"This committee has been tasked with assessing traffic conditions and providing recommendations to the Cabinet," the letter said.

On 26th July 2023, the Cabinet approved a series of steps to improve the transport system and ease congestion, following the committee's findings.

These measures include reviewing traffic flow and maintaining oversight of the solutions already in place.

Addressing the third aspect of the proposal – restricting driving licences to expats earning more than BD500 – the government reminded MPs that a similar suggestion had been dismissed during discussions on the 2014 Traffic Law.

Salary

"The Council of Representatives previously rejected a proposal to impose a salary threshold of 31 dinars," the letter explained.

The government reaffirmed that current regulations ensure public safety and the welfare of road users.

"Should any future amendments be necessary, they could be integrated within the existing framework aimed at managing road safety and alleviating congestion," it concluded.

Grease traps 'mandatory' for restaurants and cafes under Bahrain's new sanitation rules

TDT | Manama

Restaurants and cafés in Bahrain will soon be required to install grease traps or risk losing their licenses.

This new regulation, confirmed last week, follows nearly a year of persistent advocacy from the Muharraq Municipal Council for stricter sanitation measures across Bahrain.

Vice Chairman Saleh Buhaza first proposed the idea in November 2023, emphasising that grease traps are crucial for preventing harmful waste, particularly fats, oils, and grease (FOG), from clogging the sewage system.

These substances often lead to serious plumbing issues, and this initiative aims to improve hygiene standards in the region.

Wastewater

Commercial grease traps are vital for keeping FOG out of wastewater systems in restaurants and cafés.

Installed in the plumbing lines, these devices slow the flow of wastewater, allowing FOG to rise to the surface and solidify while cleaner water continues through the system.

By preventing clogs in the sewage system, grease traps not only help avoid costly plumbing repairs but also play a crucial role in protecting the environment.

Hygiene

For food businesses, installing these traps is essential to maintain hygiene standards and comply with local regulations.

In a related development, the Ministry of Health approved the Muharraq Municipal Council's proposal for requiring grease traps in all restaurants and cafés.

The ministry stated that installation would be linked to the issuance of business licences, contingent upon approval from the Ministry of Works.

In their response, the Ministry of Health indicated that, following consultations with relevant government agencies, it would take the necessary steps to incorporate the requirement for grease traps into the health regulations mandated for food establishments under public health law.

The council formally submitted its request in a letter dated 3 December 2023.

In the months that followed, the Ministry of Works, the Ministry of Industry and Commerce, and other government departments were consulted to evaluate the proposal's feasibility.

Measure

In early October, the Ministry of Municipalities Affairs officially notified the council that the measure had been approved by the Ministry of Health, making it mandatory for all food-related businesses in Muharraq to install grease traps.

Man arrested for gold theft using online payment app

TDT | Manama

A 22-year-old man managed to execute a bold gold theft, using an online payment app to make off with jewellery valued at BD3,000 from several unsuspecting shops, along with a handful of mobile phones.

The Capital Governorate Police quickly took action after receiving reports about the scam, which involved the suspect deceiving jewellers into believing he'd made payments through app, only to vanish before completing the transactions.

Upon receiving the multiple complaints, the Public Prosecution moved swiftly to investigate.

The Head of the Capital Governorate Prosecution revealed that the suspect had tricked shop employees by claiming he would pay via a digital payment application, all while never actually transferring any funds.

Following his arrest, the suspect was questioned about the various allegations against him, and the Prosecution decided to hold him in custody as inquiries continue. Authorities are now preparing to refer the case to criminal court.

Growth in ridership

Public transport usage rises in Bahrain by 25% despite ongoing challenges

Mohammed Darwish
TDT | Manama

Bahrain's public transport system welcomed 945,199 passengers in September 2024, a remarkable increase compared to the same month last year, reflecting shifting travel habits.

However, despite this rise, the average bus ridership has faced challenges, with figures dropping to 23,477 in March 2024 from 32,882 in March 2023.

Since its launch in February 2015, the total number of public transport users has exceeded 98,036,021, boasting an average daily ridership of 31,507.

In a recent update shared on Instagram, the Ministry of Transportation and Telecommunications reported that 2,962 operational cards were issued and renewed, alongside 34 renewed licences and five new ones.

Furthermore, 24 inspection campaigns were carried out throughout September 2024.

Trips

Statistics show that over one million trips were operated in March 2024, contributing to a total of approximately 92.22 million trips since the service began.

Bahrain Public Transport Company runs a fleet of 140 buses, covering 26 routes and more than 600 stations every day.

Designed to accommodate all passengers, particularly those with special needs, the fleet includes low-floor buses and driver-controlled platforms to assist individuals with limited mobility, parents with prams, and those with disabilities.

Seating

Priority seating is available for women, families, the elderly, and wheelchair users, along with free Wi-Fi, information display screens, surveillance cameras, and wheelchair facilities.

Public transport services are operated by a private company under an investment franchise, supported by the government to serve a diverse range of workers and residents.

Periodic studies

The Ministry collaborates with Bahrain Public Transport Company to conduct thorough periodic studies on bus routes, assessing service quality and reviewing requests from public transport users, municipal councils, and other stakeholders.

Metro project in the coming years.

Official documents have revealed that the public transport operating contract will expire next year.

The agreement with Bahrain Public Transport Company was initially signed in September 2015 for a duration of ten years.

Documents

These documents indicate that the Ministry of Transportation has expanded public transport services, increasing both the number of routes and the buses dedicated to the system.

Currently, there are 140 public transport buses, with 114 in active operation, and more than 26 routes servicing 583 stations.

The buses make 726 trips daily, covering 80 per cent of populated areas, with an average daily network usage of 32,000 people.

According to the contract, the Ministry compensates the company with BD9 million annually, minus the revenues collected from operations, which averaged BD2 million per year from 2019 to 2022.

Despite these efforts, the public transport company faces obstacles in meeting its goals.

Daily average

The initial target aimed for 51,000 passengers daily in the first year, increasing by 5 per cent in subsequent years; however, the actual daily average has settled at 28,000.

Traffic congestion continues to pose a considerable challenge, causing a decline in bus speeds on roads from 23 km/h in 2013 to 18 km/h in 2019.

Statistics from the Ministry of Works and the public transport company indicate that 61 per cent of the seats lost on public buses between 2019 and 2024 were due to traffic congestion.

MPs move to create job opportunities for laid-off Bahrainis

TDT | Manama

With over 400 Bahrainis suddenly out of work, lawmakers are rushing to create immediate job opportunities as the Council of Representatives addresses rampant layoffs.

Recently, the Council approved an urgent proposal aimed at meeting the pressing need for employment among those dismissed by various companies.

MP Zainab Abdul Amir highlighted that the proposal seeks to employ Bahrainis and enhance their status in the job market, especially as many companies benefiting from Tamkeen support have let go of their Bahraini workers.

Dismissal

According to Abdul Amir, a bank has dismissed around 26 Bahraini employees, contradicting Central Bank policies, while a hospital laid off approximately 36. Fifty-five were also dismissed from another private company.

MP Mohammed Al Rifai ex-

MP Mohammed Al Rifai

MP Zainab Abdul Amir

pressed concern that the Ministry of Labour appears unable to manage the escalating layoffs, noting the irony of companies seeking experienced new hires while simultaneously dismissing highly qualified personnel.

This urgent proposal aims to prioritise Bahraini workers and protect their rights in the labour market.

Action

As a key supporter of the proposal, MP Abdul Amir emphasised the need for immediate action to secure suitable employment for Bahraini workers and their families.

The wave of dismissals conflicts with the national labour market strategy launched by His Royal Highness Prince Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, the Crown Prince and Prime Minister, which aims to uphold the rights and benefits of all workers.

The fallout from this situation is likely to affect the families of those laid off, threatening their living standards amid increasing financial burdens.

Ministry unveils 323 approved student transport providers

TDT | Manama

The Ministry of Transportation and Telecommunications has published a list of 323 licensed individuals and companies providing student transport services in Bahrain.

Updated yesterday, the list includes 259 individual drivers and 64 companies operating multiple vehicles.

The ministry urged parents to ensure they choose licensed transporters to guarantee student safety and protect their rights.

It stressed that the publication of the list is part of the ministry's efforts to regulate the student transport sector and provide safe, reliable services.

The General Directorate of Traffic previously had called earlier for verification of driver licenses issued by the Ministry of Transportation and Telecommunications, emphasising the importance of ensuring student safety.

It warned that legal action will be taken against unlicensed drivers.

The average cost of round-trip student transport ranges from BD20 to BD40 per month, depending on distance.

For example, transport from Sitra to Isa Town costs between BD35 and BD40 monthly (round trip), while a one-way trip is around BD25.

The cost from Muharraq to the University of Bahrain in Sakhir is capped at BD40.

Government supports fight against cyber fraud

TDT | Manama

Biometric IDs and round-the-clock fraud surveillance are part of Bahrain's latest effort to protect bank accounts from the growing threat of cybercrime, following a proposal from the Council of Representatives.

In its response, the government confirmed it is taking the necessary action to protect the financial sector and its customers from online fraud.

This includes closer collaboration with private firms and a move towards preventive policies aimed at reducing risk.

'Bahrain is fully committed to ensuring economic security,' the government said, adding that its approach will strengthen the banking sector's defences against the ever-present threat of electronic fraud.

The Central Bank of Bahrain (CBB), in line with its legal responsibilities under the Central Bank and Financial Institutions Law, has already rolled out several measures designed to protect clients.

These include requiring financial service providers to introduce strong controls for managing electronic banking risks, whilst ensuring customer data is secure.

Appeals Court reinstates son's alimony

TDT | Manama

The High Appeals Court has reinstated the alimony payments for a university student after his 80-year-old father successfully filed a case to terminate the payments.

The father had argued that his son, now 23, was old enough to support himself.

Handled by lawyer Eman Al

Ansari, the case highlights a dispute over financial responsibility within a family.

The son and his 28-year-old brother live with their mother following their parents' divorce.

Previously, the mother had obtained court orders requiring the father to pay BD500 in monthly alimony and BD280 for housing for both sons.

According to Al Ansari, the son, who is studying abroad, was unaware that his father had successfully appealed to stop his alimony payments two years prior. His mother had been covering his expenses during this period.

The son subsequently appealed the lower court's decision, arguing that he was still a full-time student and unable to support himself.

Indian airplane forced to divert after latest bomb hoax

Bengaluru, India

An Indian passenger aircraft was diverted on Wednesday after the latest in a string of hoax bomb threats made to airline companies involving the country.

The Akasa Air flight, which was flying from India's capital New Delhi to the southern city of Bengaluru, "received a security alert" and the flight was ordered to return as a "precaution".

Akasa Air said emergency response teams were monitoring the situation and that the captain had followed "all required emergency procedures for a safe landing in Delhi".

The flight had 184 people on board, including three infants, the airline said, with the plane landing safely back in New Delhi.

Another flight, the domestic carrier IndiGo flying from Mumbai to New Delhi, was diverted to Ahmedabad in Gujarat.

Zulfikar Hasan, director-general of the Bureau of Civil Aviation Security (BCAS), told the Times of India newspaper that "Indian skies are absolutely safe" and said police were working to identify the culprits.

"We are confident of tracing all those behind these threat messages and very strict action under law will be taken," Hasan told the newspaper.

The Indian Express newspaper reported 12 domestic and international flights have received bomb threats since Monday, including some messages posted on social media. All have been false alarms.

UK govt 'looking at' sanctioning Israeli ministers: Starmer

British Prime Minister Keir Starmer AFP | London, United Kingdom

British Prime Minister Keir Starmer said on Wednesday the government was weighing up sanctions against far-right Israeli ministers Itamar Ben Gvir and Bezalel Smotrich. Asked in parliament if the government would sanction the pair, Starmer said: "We are looking at that because there are obviously abhorrent comments along with other really concerning activity in the West Bank."

National Security Minister Smotrich and Ben Gvir, who is Finance Minister, are vocal supporters of settlements in the West Bank, which are considered illegal under international law.

Smotrich has also triggered international uproar by suggesting it would be justified to starve two million Gazans to free Israeli hostages in the Palestinian territory.

Earlier this week, former foreign secretary David Cameron revealed that the previous Conservative government had been "working on" sanctions against the "extreme" politicians.

Starmer's Labour government announced separate sanctions against seven Israeli settler outposts and organisations on Tuesday.

Israeli settler violence and military raids have intensified in the occupied territory following Hamas's October 7 attack last year.

Pointing to the "dire" humanitarian situation in Gaza, Starmer also called for Israel to "take all possible steps to avoid civilian casualties, to allow aid into Gaza in much greater volume".

Russian man talks about survival after 66 days at sea

AFP | Moscow, Russia

Mikhail Pichugin

A Russian man who survived 66 days adrift at sea in a small inflatable boat on Wednesday spoke from his hospital bed about his ordeal.

Mikhail Pichugin, 46, was rescued by a fishing boat Monday off the coast of the far eastern Kamchatka peninsula, more than two months after he set off on a boat trip with his brother and 15-year-old nephew, both of whom died aboard.

Pichugin comes from Ulan-Ude in Siberia but was working on the far eastern island of Sakhalin as a driver. He set off from the coast of the Khabarovsk region on August 9 with his visiting brother Sergei, 49, and nephew Ilya, 15, on a crossing to Sakhalin meant to take a few hours.

When they failed to arrive, Russian rescuers surveyed the sea by helicopter and plane, suspecting the boat had drifted towards Kamchatka, but found nothing and the search was eventually called off.

The boat was found around 1,000 kilometres (670 miles) from its starting point. Pichugin may have survived because of his portly 100-kilogramme (220 pounds) stature, according to his wife. Russian television reported he weighed only 50kg when found on Monday.

"I had no choice. I have my mother at home, my daughter," he added on his motivation to live.

UK gang jailed for up to 29 years for machete killing

London, United Kingdom

A judge yesterday handed four men jail terms of up to 29 years for a deadly machete attack on an 18-year-old, as the UK grapples with a wave of knife killings.

Wazabakana Kukabu, known as Jordan, was killed last May in Dagenham, east of London when he was set upon by the machete-wielding gang as he sat in the back of a car.

The group, three of whom are still teenagers, were seen on a bus re-enacting the murder they had carried out, London police said.

Eighteen-year-old Toulwase Odunewu received a 29-year jail term and Michael Tommy-Mbogba, 21, was jailed for 23 years. The other two, aged 16 and 17, were given detention orders of 16 and 23 years.

Nigeria fuel tanker explosion kills more than 140: emergency agency

AFP | Majiya, Nigeria

Picture for representation only

The Nigerian Medical Association has urged doctors to rush to nearby emergency rooms to help with the influx of patients.

Nigerian lawmakers have observed a minute's silence in the Senate.

In a statement on Wednesday, Nigerian Vice President Kashim Shettima called for a safety review and said the federal government was sending resources to support those affected.

Fuel tanker explosions are common in Africa's most populous nation, where roads can be poorly maintained and residents often look to siphon off fuel following accidents.

The price of petrol has soared fivefold since President Bola Ahmed Tinubu scrapped subsidies last year, and there are often shortages.

Desperation rose further last week after more than 140 people" had been buried in a mass grave and warned the toll was likely to rise further. Earlier, police said at least 94 people were killed and 50 injured. Shiusu Adam said the residents had "overwhelmed" officers trying to stop them.

Israel strikes Hezbollah strongholds after rejecting Lebanon ceasefire

Beirut, Lebanon

Israel conducted strikes targeting Hezbollah's main bastion and a city in southern Lebanon where it holds sway yesterday, after Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu dismissed calls for a ceasefire.

The strike on south Beirut, the group's main stronghold, was the first in several days of calm in the area, after an intense period of bombardment earlier in the Israel-Hezbollah war.

Israel's army said its warplanes struck dozens of Hezbollah targets in the southern city of Nabatiyeh, where the Lebanese group and its ally Amal hold sway.

The Lebanese health ministry said six people were killed and 43 injured in the strikes on two municipal buildings in Nabatiyeh, adding that rescuers were searching through the rubble for survivors.

The mayor was among the dead, a local official told AFP, adding that the strikes "formed a kind of belt of fire" in the area.

Lebanese Prime Minister Najib Mikati condemned the attack, saying that Israel "deliberately targeted a meeting of the municipal council that was discussing the city's services and relief situation".

In response to the Nabatiyeh strikes, UN Special Coordinator for Lebanon Jeanine Hennis-Plasschaert said that "civilians and civilian infrastructure must be protected at all times".

The strikes sent a thick plume of smoke billowing over houses, palm trees and the blue-tipped minaret of a mosque in the city.

PM Modi calls for global standards for AI and data privacy at IMC 2024

Modi TDT | agencies

While inaugurating the India Mobile Congress 2024 on Tuesday, Prime Minister Narendra Modi called for global standards for artificial intelligence (AI) and data privacy.

Giving his inaugural speech Modi asked the Industry leaders, tech innovators and startups to create a global standard for AI and data privacy.

The PM said, "Create global standards for ethical AI and data privacy that also respect the diversity of different countries." The prime minister added that we have global rules for the aviation sector we need a similar framework for the digital sector.

"Just as we have created a framework of global rules and regulations for the aviation sector, the digital world also needs a similar framework," said PM.

PM Modi asked the World Telecommunication Standardization Assembly (WTSa) to work on this and create global standards for ethical AI and data privacy to respect the diversity of different countries.

"I would like to ask every member of WTSa to think about how to make telecommunications safe for everyone. In this interconnected world, security cannot be an after-thought. India's Data Protection Act and National Cyber Security Strategy show our commitment towards creating a safe digital ecosystem," said Modi.

PM Modi said India had put forward this issue before the world during its G-20 presidency in September last year, "I also want to put forward this issue before a global platform like WTSa. This issue is of global framework of digital technology, global guidelines. Now the time has come that global institutions will have to accept its importance for global governance. Do's and don'ts will have to be made at the global level for technology."

PM Modi said all the digital tools and applications that are available and used today are beyond restrictions, beyond the boundaries of any country. Therefore, no country can protect its citizens from cyber threats alone.

PM Modi asked all global institutions to work for this, "We will have to work together, global institutions will have to come forward and take responsibility," said Modi (ANI)

Spate of executions in US 'deeply worrying': UN

AFP | Geneva, Switzerland

The United Nations voiced alarm yesterday at a recent spate of executions in the United States, where two men are due to be put to death this week.

The UN rights office is "deeply concerned by the impending execution of two men" in Texas and Alabama on Thursday, spokesman Seif Magango said in a statement.

"This would follow the execution of six people in five different US states over a 12-day period last month," he added.

"This rise in the rate of executions is deeply worrying," Derrick Ryan Dearman is due to be executed on Thursday in Alabama, where he was reportedly convicted of murdering several people with an axe in 2016.

Health Conditions in Restaurants in Bahrain

I am writing to bring attention to an issue of great concern regarding the health conditions of employees working in restaurants across Bahrain. As someone who has been working in the pharmacy sector for several years, I have observed alarming trends in the hygiene and working conditions of restaurant staff.

Many restaurant employees, particularly those from Indian, Bangladeshi, and Pakistani communities, work long hours without adequate rest days. This not only affects their well-being but can also have repercussions on the health of customers. My suggestions to improve the situation are as follows:

1. Ensure a mandatory day off for all restaurant employees to prevent burnout and improve health conditions.
2. Regular health checks every six months for employees over 40 years old, covering essential aspects like uric acid, thyroid levels, tuberculosis, and blood pressure.
3. Monthly physical inspections focusing on hygiene, including checks for clean nails, hair, and overall health.
4. Kitchen hygiene must be thoroughly inspected, including utensils, water storage, drainage, and the general cleanliness of food preparation areas.
5. Many employees and customers suffer from common ailments such as gallbladder stones, vitamin deficiencies (D3, B12), constipation, and skin allergies, which might be linked to poor dietary conditions in restaurants.
6. The health and safety practices of small karak tea shops also need closer scrutiny.

It is crucial that business owners not only focus on profits but also prioritize the health and well-being of their employees, as this directly impacts the safety and well-being of customers.

A healthy workforce is essential for a healthy Bahrain, and I hope these concerns are taken seriously.

Luxury Car Beggars

Is Juffair becoming the new hotspot for 'charity' drives... from the comfort of a GMC or Lexus?

Picture this - you're minding your business, perhaps on a burger run, and suddenly, a well-dressed man in an expensive car (three kids playing iPads in the backseat, mind you) rolls down his window with the ultimate sob story - out of petrol, can't get home, and just needs a 'few' dinars. Sound familiar? I thought I was the only one, but after being approached multiple times by these vehicular philanthropists, I realized - it's an epidemic!

Now, don't get me wrong. If you're driving a car that costs more than my college tuition, I might question whether you really need the BD for fuel. But my personal favourite encounter? A man, begging for gas money, drives straight into the McDonald's drive-thru for a celebratory ice cream after receiving my hard-earned cash. Well, at least someone was able to cool off in this heat!

I'd like to extend my sympathy to these 'poor' souls - perhaps life has gotten hard in their luxury sedans. Maybe the discos the night before drained their wallets? But my advice to them: next time, at least try to ask for something more believable than fuel money. Or, as my friends put it, "just say no" - a skill I'm actively working on.

In the meantime, I'll save my dinars for the hardworking delivery guys on scooters.

Sincerely,
Jose Abraham

We would love to hear from you.

Government tackles traffic congestion with new solutions

The government has addressed an urgent parliamentary proposal to resolve traffic congestion caused by accidents, bad weather, and peak hour traffic. In a memo to parliament, it outlined plans to update the traffic improvement strategy, backed by surveys, stats, and future projections.

The strategy includes expanding road networks, introducing new traffic policies, and proposing vehicle safety regulations—without infringing on vehicle ownership rights. From 2021-2023, the government canceled the registration of 84,569 vehicles as part of its efforts to enforce traffic laws.

Those e-scooters shud be on the pavements. Not the road. It's like when they enforced all cyclist to wear their safety - helmets, lights, vests for a few years. & now nothing is followed. All hype with no consistency.

This morning around 9 a.m., I had a close call with a reckless driver in Gudabiya. While crossing the road on a green light, a driver ran a red light and nearly hit me. I was in the middle of the road and just a few inches away from the car. Thankfully, God saved me from what could have been a tragic accident. Drivers like this should face severe punishment for their reckless behavior. It's unacceptable to endanger lives by ignoring traffic rules, and stricter consequences are needed to prevent such incidents.

Annual wife-carrying championship takes Maine by storm

The event is believed to be based on a 19th century Finnish legend involving a man whose gang was known to pillage villages and carry away the women. While its origins are not exactly politically correct - more than 30 couples competed in the North American Wife Carrying Championship in front of cheering crowds. The event sees competitors splash through water, leap over logs and trudge through mud - all while carrying their partner like a sack of potatoes.

It is believed to be based on a 19th century Finnish legend involving a man known as "Ronkainen the Robber", whose gang was known to pillage villages and carry away the women.

Traditionally, the Finnish event featured male competitors carrying a woman. On Saturday, competing couples did not have to be married, nor did they have to be a man and a woman. One contestant - the carrier - was dressed as Mr Incredible, while his "wife" was dressed entirely in pink.

They and others were cheered on by crowds on both sides of the 254-metre course at Sunday River ski resort.

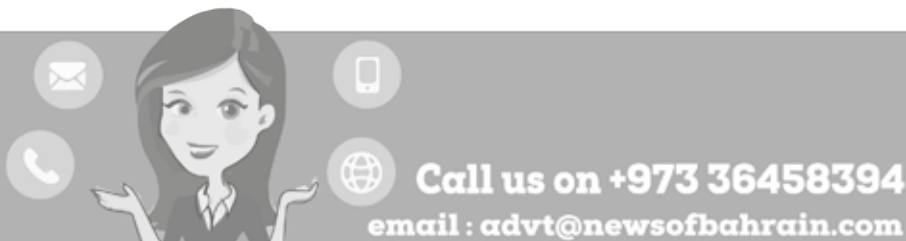

Most of the participants use a technique in which the "wife" is carried like a backpack - upside down - to ensure the runners' arms are free for the greatest agility.

The champion leaves with the weight of the "wife" in beer and five times the "wife's" weight in cash. To estimate the amount they win, the winning "wife" is put on one side of a see-saw-like scale that organisers balance out on the other side with cases of beer.

"We come each year for the fun," said Wade Porterfield of Cuba, New York, who competed with his wife, Sara Porterfield.

National Race Day roars into action

BIC set for National Race Day thrills as all-new Bahrain Touring Car Challenge to flag off

● BTCC headlines with two 15-lap races

● BMC features fierce 1,000cc and 600cc races

● Time Attack showcases speed in six categories

TDT | Manama

Bahrain International Circuit (BIC), 'The Home of Motorsport in the Middle East', hosts the first round of National Race Day tomorrow, featuring three exciting national championships.

The day's events will be headlined by the all-new 2024/2025 Bahrain Touring Car Challenge (BTCC), while there will also be plenty of action in the 2024/2025 Bahrain Motorcycle Championship (BMC) and Time Attack.

The track temperatures are set to heat up this weekend at BIC as the stacked season schedule continues with top-class local competition.

National Race Day is being organised and run by BIC, in cooperation with the Bahrain Motor Federation, the Circuit Racing Commission, the Bahrain Motorcycle Commission, the Bahrain Autocross and Drift Commission, and the Motorsport Marshals Club.

Tomorrow's events will be held along BIC's 2.55-kilometre Inner Track. Action is scheduled to get underway at 1.15pm and continue until 9.30pm, making for varying conditions for both competitors and fans with thrilling day-to-night racing. The podium ceremonies are scheduled

The new BTCC regulations allow for more flexibility in car choices, making it easier and potentially less costly for new participants to join the grid for 9.45pm.

All are welcome to attend National Race Day. Tickets cost BD2 for adults and BD1 for children. They will get to witness some of the best Bahrain-based racers compete in the three highly competitive series.

The BTCC will be building on the success of its predecessor, the BIC 2,000cc Challenge with the new regulations allowing for more flexibility on the cars that are allowed to enter, making it easier for new participants to join the grid and reduce costs for drivers.

Competitors in this campaign held a test day at BIC last week as part of their final preparations for the start of their season-long programme. This Friday's events in the BTCC will feature a practice session, to be followed by qualifying, setting the stage for two 15-lap races.

While the action on four wheels will be intense, there will also be some fiery battles on two wheels with the BMC. Riders will be going wheel-to-wheel in two different classes, including the 1,000cc and 600cc. The round will comprise a practice, qualifying, and a single 14-lap race.

Amongst the BMC competitors is a 13-rider field. Set to race in the 1,000cc class are Hassan Alawadhi, Bandar Bahlul, Abdelrahman Hasan, Nawaf Alshuaibi, Fahad Al Hashash, and Bradley Stewart.

In the 600cc class are Ali Adiby, Mohamed Al Sadiq, Saif Albuainain, Abdelrahman Ahmed, Nasser Al Khadra, Achraf Hamoud, and Mohammed Redha.

Meanwhile, Time Attack will feature competition in six different categories. Drivers will be aiming to clock their fastest lap time to get their best classification amongst the field at the end of the evening.

After a single practice session, each class will get out onto the tarmac for two heats during the day.

Seven rounds of National Race Day are scheduled to take place this 2024/2025 season, to be held all the way through to May.

Roaming acts to bring fun fan-engagement off the track at WEC weekend

Fans will get to engage with an army of the most talented and colourful performers from around the world at the highly anticipated WEC 8 Hours of Bahrain, powered by Bapco Energies, set to be hosted by Bahrain International Circuit (BIC) this 1 and 2 November in Sakhir.

'The Home of Motorsport in the Middle East' has brought in a wide array of roaming performers to interact with all those attending the upcoming World Endurance Championship (WEC) weekend.

They will be bringing smiles to people of all ages as a major part of the wide array of fun entertainment for the whole family to enjoy on both days of the event.

The roaming performers include the Checker Boards roaming drummers, stilt-walkers such as the Animateurs and the Colourful Walker, the acrobatic Tennis Star Juggler, Poom-Cha the comedic one-man band, the Miss C Balloonologist balloon mime act, The Bucket Boy street drummer, and the Fluers roaming face painters and hair stylists.

These are only a few of the many attractions that await fans off the track at the WEC spectacle, which will be bringing the Spirit of Le Mans to the kingdom.

The attractions have been put together in signature BIC style, with so much to see and do over the course of each day.

There will also be the Giant Ferris Wheel, racing simulators, reaction games used by professional drivers, and a classic car show, plus so much for the youngsters, to be headlined by 'Space Jam: A New Legacy', celebrating the Warner Bros Pictures live-action film of the same name, where fans can enjoy plenty of shows and activities.

Fans wishing to attend the WEC 8 Hours of Bahrain, powered by Bapco Energies, can purchase their grandstand tickets for the weekend at just BD5.5 for adults and BD2.75 for children for the two days. These are incredible rates offering great value for money to attend a world championship event.

All tickets sold will help make a positive environmental impact in the Kingdom, as BIC and Bapco Energies are bringing back their ground-breaking Green Ticket Initiative, which will greatly contribute to achieving the national target of quadrupling mangrove coverage across the Kingdom by 2035.

Bahrain Football Association condemns unacceptable behavior by Indonesian fans

Hussain Almaskati

The Bahrain Football Association (BFA) has expressed deep concern and strong condemnation following a wave of unacceptable behavior from Indonesian fans directed toward the Bahraini national team and the association itself. This comes in the aftermath of Bahrain's match against Indonesia in the AFC Asian Qualifiers for the 2026 FIFA World Cup.

Digital Attacks and Online Harassment

In a statement, the BFA outlined the disturbing nature of the actions taken by Indonesian fans, which extended beyond the football field. The association's website, social media accounts, and electronic correspondence systems were targeted by a torrent of abusive comments, threats, and even hacking attempts. The BFA emphasized that such actions have no place in sports, which are meant to unite people from different parts of the world, and strongly condemned the behavior that goes against the spirit of football.

In addition to the cyberattacks on the BFA, the personal social media accounts of Bahraini national team players and their fans were also flooded with offensive comments and threats. The association highlighted its disappointment, noting that these actions do not reflect the values and principles of sportsmanship or the Islamic values of mutual respect. The BFA also expressed concerns for the safety of the team as they prepare for their away match against Indonesia in Jakarta.

Appeals to FIFA and AFC

In response to these threats, the BFA is taking swift action to ensure the safety of its players and staff. The association has begun the process of addressing both FIFA and the AFC, formally notifying them of the online harassment and the threatening nature of the behavior they have been subjected to. As part of its efforts to protect the national team, the BFA will submit a request to relocate the upcoming match from Indonesia to a neutral venue, citing the safety of its players as a top priority.

The BFA reiterated its strong stance against this kind of conduct, emphasizing the importance of mutual respect and sportsmanship in football. The association expressed its extreme surprise at the multiple death threats received and called on governing bodies to address the situation urgently to uphold the integrity of the sport and the safety of all participants.

Tuchel appointed England manager from January 2025

AFP | London

Thomas Tuchel was named England's new manager yesterday, with the Football Association turning to the German to try to land their first major trophy since 1966.

Former Chelsea manager Tuchel will start in the role from January 1, 2025 on an 18-month deal to the conclusion of the 2026 World Cup.

The 51-year-old, who has been out of work since leaving Bayern Munich at the end of last season, succeeds Englishman Gareth Southgate as permanent coach and becomes the third foreign manager of the Three Lions after Sven-Goran Eriksson and Fabio Capello. Tuchel, who has also coached Borussia Dortmund and Paris Saint-Germain, has the trophy-winning pedigree that the FA is seeking to help end a 58-year wait to win a major tournament since the 1966 World Cup on home soil.

Alex Ferguson

Ferguson to leave Man Utd ambassador role as club cuts costs

AFP | Manchester

Alex Ferguson is leaving his reported £2 million-a-year ($2.6m) ambassador role with Manchester United at the end of the season as part of a cost-cutting exercise.

The former United manager, 82, won 13 Premier League titles and two Champions League crowns among a huge trophy haul during nearly 27 years at Old Trafford.

The Athletic reported that the decision had been made amicably, with Ferguson stepping down from the global ambassador role when the season ends.

Ferguson, a regular at matches since he stepped down in 2013, will remain a non-executive director of the football club board.

It comes as part of a wider cost-cutting exercise at United under INEOS, which has had responsibility for football operations at the club since its founder Jim Ratcliffe completed the purchase of a minority stake earlier this year.

Ali Alaradi ready for Royal Rumble III

● Bahrain's middleweight sensation Ali Alaradi reflects on Domestic Boxing Open Air Event victory

TDT | Manama

Last Friday, the Domestic Boxing Open Air Event in Bahrain, organized by the Bahrain Boxing Federation (BBF) at the Dilmun Club in Saar, delivered a night of intense competition. Featuring around 15 to 20 bouts with boxers from Bahrain, Saudi Arabia, and Kuwait, the event was a celebration of regional boxing talent. Among the standout performers was local middleweight sensation Ali Alaradi, who came out on top, further solidifying his position as one of Bahrain's top fighters.

Speaking exclusively to Hussain Almaskati of The Daily Tribune, Alaradi reflected on his experience of fighting in front of an electric home crowd and shared his ambitions for the upcoming Royal Rumble III event.

Bahrain's Boxing Gem, Ali Alaradi

Mentality, Strategy, and Training: Keys to Victory

Alaradi's fight was one of the night's highlights, and his confidence in the ring shone through. He detailed his strategic approach to the fight, focusing on his preparation, mentality, and calculated movements.

"I felt excited for my fight last Friday," Alaradi said. "Fighting as a middleweight always feels riskier than as a lightweight, but I was confident. The key for me was taking my time to understand my opponent's movement and rhythm. He had some powerful right overhand shots, but I was able to use my defense to block them effectively."

Alaradi's ability to read his opponent's movements paid off when he landed a well-timed right straight hand that caught his opponent off guard, leading to an eight-second count. "That moment shifted the momentum," he recalled. "I kept the pressure on, throwing more right-hand shots, and the referee decided to stop the fight with just 10 seconds left in the first round."

Reflecting on what made the difference in the ring, Alaradi credited his mindset, experience, and training. "It was my will to win, combined with my ring experience and training, that made the difference that night," he said.

The Power of a Home Crowd

Fighting in front of a home crowd provided Alaradi with a unique advantage, one that he doesn't take for granted. The Domestic Boxing Open Air Event was packed with local supporters, and Alaradi was visibly moved by their presence.

"There's nothing like fighting and winning in front of your home crowd," he shared. "Seeing my family and friends ringside meant the world to me. Their support fills me with pride, motivates me to keep going, and brings an everlasting sense of love and connection."

Alaradi added that winning in front of his loved ones and celebrating immediately afterward created a life-giving moment he will never forget. "Their support is one of the main reasons why I continue to box," he said, emphasizing how meaningful it is to him.

Preparing for Royal Rumble III

Looking ahead to Royal Rumble III, where boxing legend Amir Khan and HH Shaikh Khalid are expected to be in attendance, Alaradi is already focusing on his next challenge. He acknowledges the pressure but sees it as a positive force that drives him forward.

"Boxing in front of Amir Khan and HH Shaikh Khalid is a dream come true," Alaradi said. "It's positive pressure, and I'm continuing to train with responsibility and intention."

Balancing a 9-5 job with in-

The upcoming Royal Rumble III event, where Alaradi will compete, is expected to be attended by boxing legend Amir Khan and HH Shaikh Khalid, adding prestige to the tournament tense camp-style training is no easy task, but Alaradi remains committed to his dream of reaching the pinnacle of his boxing career. He mentioned that sponsorships and additional support from local and international companies could greatly aid his preparation for upcoming matches. "I juggle a 9-5 job and camp-style training, but I will continue to pursue my dream. Sponsorships would certainly help me take my training to the next level," he added.

Staying Focused on the Next Challenge

With back-to-back competitions on the horizon, including last week's Domestic Boxing Open Air Event and the upcoming Royal Rumble III set to take place on November 29 at the Crowne Plaza, Alaradi remains laser-focused on his preparation. He emphasized the importance of not underestimating any opponent, no matter their background or reputation.

"I will need to prepare for this by never underestimating my opponent, whoever they may be. That always gives me an edge in preparation and competition," he said. "It's all part of a plan, and I trust it."

Alaradi's faith plays a significant role in his boxing journey, and he attributes his ability to stay active and focused to the power of Allah swt. "Like everyone else, I can win or lose, but what will differentiate the result is how I choose to prepare from now on. My will to do it, combined with Allah's guidance, is what keeps me going."

Looking Ahead

As he prepares to face top-tier opponents at Royal Rumble III, including fighters from the British Army Royal Engineers, Alaradi is drawing on every ounce of his mental and physical strength. "It's a mix of things—having the right team, a strong mentality, physical preparation, and proper recovery," he explained.
