The Bahraini delegation at the event

TDI | Manama

A group of young Bahraini leaders recently concluded a week-long study visit to the European Union institutions in Brussels, marking another milestone in strengthening people-to-people ties between Bahrain and the EU.

Held from November 18th to

The delegation consisted of the top ten participants from the seventh edition of the 'Young Parliamentarian' programme, an initiative organised by the Youth Pioneer Society, a Bahraini non-profit organisation,

Filipino remittances from Bahrain surge

TDI | Manama

Remittances sent home by Filipino workers from Bahrain and the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) countries have shown positive growth in the first nine months of 2024, according to data released by the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP), the Philippines' central bank.

Filipino remittances from Bahrain reached $194.79 million between January and September 2024, a 3.12% increase compared to the $188.89 million recorded during the same period in 2023.

This positive trend mirrors the overall growth in remittances from the GCC, which saw a 5.12% year-on-year increase, accounting for a significant 96.46% of total remittances from the Middle East region.

Shura Council approves limits on Tamkeen aid for foreign companies amid concerns over overseas investments

- KHALID AL MASKATI, SHURA COUNCIL MEMBER

TDT | Manama

Foreign-owned companies may see their access to Tamkeen support reduced under a new law passed by the Shura Council.

The legislation, approved yesterday, prioritises Bahraini-owned firms and citizens, aiming to strengthen local businesses.

However, it has sparked concerns that it might discourage much-needed foreign investment in the kingdom.

Jamal Fakhro, the Shura Council’s First Deputy Chairman, warned against creating unnecessary hurdles for foreign firms.

“Bahrain is actively working to attract overseas investment, and the exceptions provided in this law must make things easier for foreign companies, not more difficult,” he said.

Economic value

Fakhro also questioned how Tamkeen measures the economic value of foreign-owned businesses.

“What standards does Tamkeen use to assess a company’s investment size or its contribution to Bahrain’s economy? These measures need to be clear and consistent,” he added.

Dr Jameela Salman, Chairwoman of the Services Committee, shared figures on Bahrain’s business environment.

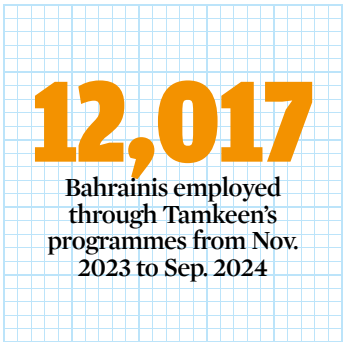

“There are 86,935 commercial registrations in Bahrain, with 78.6 per cent fully or partly owned by Bahrainis and 21.4 per cent entirely foreign-owned,” she explained.

Career growth

Between November 2023 and September 2024, 12,017 Bahrainis secured jobs through Tamkeen’s programmes, 20,032 benefited from career growth schemes, and 7,090 businesses received support.

“This law will improve opportunities for Bahraini workers, making them the natural choice for employers and strengthening the local economy,” Salman added.

HE Hamad Al Maliki, Minister of Cabinet Affairs, emphasised the cooperation between the government and legislators in drafting the law.

He noted that Tamkeen’s initiatives have already delivered results, including helping 14,319 Bahrainis enter the workforce and assisting 22,545 with career progression.

Programmes

Additionally, 8,090 businesses in the private sector have benefited from Tamkeen’s programmes.

“We have extended wage support to five years to ensure Bahrainis stay competitive in the labour market while making Bahrain an attractive destination for investors,” he said.

Khalid Al Maskati, a Shura

Council member, noted how the law would push foreign companies to make a stronger contribution to the local economy.

“Tamkeen’s approach encourages businesses to deliver meaningful benefits to Bahrainis. By assessing factors like financial health, trade activity, and reputation, they ensure companies provide real value to the workforce,” he remarked.

Public funds

Adel Al Asoumi stressed the importance of monitoring how public funds are used.

“This law reinforces Tamkeen’s role in tackling misuse of resources. Regular inspections to root out fake jobs and wage manipulation are essential. Stronger enforcement will protect Bahrainis and the kingdom’s resources,” he said.

The law refines Tamkeen’s priorities, directing resources toward training, advice, and financial aid for Bahraini-led businesses.

Foreign firms, while not excluded, must show a clear and measurable contribution to Bahrain’s economy to qualify for support.

A report from the Shura Council recognised that foreign-owned businesses already play a role by paying into the Labour Fund, employing Bahrainis, and providing training opportunities.

Excluding them entirely, it warned, could undermine Bahrain’s broader ambitions.

Maha Mufeez, CEO of Tamkeen, clarified how support is distributed, emphasising that it depends on several factors.

“Support differs for Bahrainis, whether they work for a Bahraini or foreign-owned company. We consider the number of Bahrainis employed, the type of jobs offered, and the size of the investment,” she explained.

Economic contributions

She also stressed the importance of evaluating economic contributions, noting that “the average wages paid to Bahrainis are a key factor in determining a company’s impact on the economy.”

Outlining Tamkeen’s broader approach, Mufeez said, “We evaluate elements such as innovation, investment size, and the creation of well-paying, meaningful jobs. These considerations shape the level of support provided, ensuring that resources are used effectively.”

Tamkeen’s objectives remain consistent: improving job prospects for Bahrainis and ensuring the private sector remains a driver of growth.

The law leaves finer details to administrative processes, allowing flexibility to adapt to future challenges.

Investment

Tamkeen described its support as an investment in Bahrain’s future, tied directly to the quality of jobs created and the wider benefits delivered to the economy.

This law marks a shift in Bahrain’s approach to economic support, favouring Bahraini businesses while ensuring foreign firms contribute more effectively.

Whether it strikes the right balance between local priorities and international interests remains to be seen, but it reflects a bold move to rethink how resources are distributed.

Unlawful dismissal case

TDT | Manama

The High Civil Court has ruled in favour of a financial consultant who was dismissed from his position at two companies after only three months of employment.

The consultant, represented by lawyer Zuhair Abdullatif, successfully argued that his dismissal was unlawful and secured a court order rejecting the companies’ claims and awarding him legal costs.

The two companies had initially filed a lawsuit against the consultant and his own company, seeking to void their contract, recover payments, and obtain BD6,100 in compensation for alleged breach of contract and poor performance.

They claimed the consultant failed to fulfill his duties as the financial manager responsible for the accounting and procurement departments.

The companies alleged that after three months of employment, during which the consultant reportedly worked eight-hour days, they terminated the contract due to his alleged failure to perform his duties.

They subsequently filed suit, claiming significant financial losses as a result.

However, the consultant’s lawyer argued that his client had fulfilled his obligations, providing both written and verbal consultations.

The lawyer highlighted that the termination occurred without prior notice or warning, and that his client was dismissed abruptly, preventing him from retrieving documentation that would have proven his work.

He emphasised that the consultant worked from the companies’ offices using their laptop for at least eight hours daily, making it impossible to retain copies of relevant documents.

Land subsidence in Arad ‘dangerous’

The committee meeting in progress

TDT | Manama

The Muharraq Municipal Council’s Services and Utilities Committee has issued an urgent recommendation to address a serious land subsidence issue threatening homes in Arad.

The subsidence, described as “dangerous” by council member Ahmed Al Muqahawi, poses a significant risk to the structural integrity of houses located along Road 4148 in Block 241.

This critical issue dominated the committee’s fifth meeting of the third session of the sixth term, chaired by Abdulqader Al Sayed.

While the meeting addressed a range of service improvements, the urgency of the Arad land subsidence demanded immediate attention.

The committee’s recommendation goes beyond simply addressing the subsidence; it also emphasises the need for updates on the progress of two significant park projects: the Qalali Housing Park and the Qalali Oasis Park.

The committee also approved a request to acquire land for a new park in Block 111, Al Hidd, responding to community demand for increased green spaces.

They addressed the insufficient sewage infrastructure in Al Hidd.

China zeroes in on 'common' disputes in wake of deadly attacks
 Beijing is ramping up scrutiny of "common" disputes such as those involving marriages and property, the justice ministry said, as the public reels from a recent string of deadly attacks. China has witnessed a spate of violent incidents in recent months -- from mass stabbings to car ramming -- a rare development for a country with a proud reputation for public security. The issue has prompted soul-searching about the state of society, with some despairing about why an increasing number of people seem willing to "take revenge" on random civilians.

Three days of bitter sectarian gunfights in northwestern Pakistan have killed at least 82 people and wounded 156 more, a local official said yesterday. The latest bout of violence began on Thursday when two separate convoys of a sect travelling under police escort were ambushed, killing at least 43 and sparking two days of gun battles. "Our priority today is to broker a ceasefire between both sides. Once that is achieved, we can begin addressing the underlying issues," provincial Law Minister Aftab Alam Afridi said yesterday.

One dead after roof collapses in flood-damaged Spanish school
 A labourer working on repairs to a school near Valencia damaged in the deadly floods that ravaged eastern Spain last month was killed when a roof collapsed, authorities said yesterday. The victim was killed during "ongoing repair work in this establishment" in Massanassa, a town of 9,000 people in the Valencia suburbs, regional prefect Pilar Bernabe told journalists. Bernabe added that a second person was injured and taken to hospital following the incident, which occurred around midday.

Survivors, sniffing dogs join anti-mine march at Cambodia's Angkor Wat

Students gather in front of the Angkor Wat temple as they take part in a march for the banning of landmines

AFP | Siem Reap

Survivors and sniffing dogs joined hundreds of people at Cambodia's Angkor Wat yesterday for a march against landmines after the US decision to send anti-personnel mines to Ukraine.

Participants, including landmine victims and deminers, repeatedly chanted for "a mine-free world" during the four-kilometre (2.5-mile) walk around the famed temple complex in Siem Reap.

The march was held a day before an anti-landmine conference convenes in Cambodia, which is awash in unexploded ordnance as a legacy of civil war.

Hundreds of delegates are expected in Siem Reap to assess progress on the 1997 Anti-Personnel Mine Ban Treaty, which neither Russia nor the United States are party to.

The march and conference come after Washington announced this week that it would send anti-personnel landmines to Ukraine in a major policy shift that was immediately criticised by human rights campaigners.

In Cambodia, where the relics of civil war continue to claim lives and maim people, landmine victims told AFP they fear the casualties that could come of the decision.

"There will be more victims like me," said Hori Pros, a former soldier who lost his right leg to a landmine in 1984.

"I am sad and feel shocked," Washington says it has sought commitments from Kyiv to use the mines in its own territory and only in areas that are not populated in order to decrease the risk to civilians.

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky called the mines "very important" to halting Russian attacks.

When asked about the supply of US mines to Ukraine, Vice President of the Cambodian Mine Action and Victim Assistance Authority Ly Thuch said: "We regret that any countries, any people continue to use landmines. Anti-personnel mines are not good for our humanity."

After nearly three decades of civil war from the 1960s, Cambodia was left one of the most heavily bombed and mined countries in the world.

EU urges immediate halt to Israel-Hezbollah war

Top EU diplomat Josep Borrell calls for immediate ceasefire amid deadly conflict in Lebanon

- US special envoy Amos Hochstein says truce deal is "within our grasp"
- Hezbollah claims wave of cross-border attacks on Israel

AFP | Beirut

Top EU diplomat Josep Borrell called for an immediate ceasefire in the Israel-Hezbollah war while on a visit to Lebanon yesterday, as the group claimed a wave of cross-border attacks.

Earlier this week, US special envoy Amos Hochstein said in Lebanon that a truce deal was "within our grasp", and then headed to Israel for talks with officials there.

War between Israel and Hezbollah escalated in late September, nearly a year after the Iran-backed group began launching strikes in solidarity with its Palestinian ally Hamas following its October 7 attack.

The conflict has killed at least 3,670 people in Lebanon since October 2023, according to the health ministry, most of them since September.

In the Lebanese capital, Borrell held talks with parliament speaker Nabih Berri, who has led mediation efforts on behalf of ally Hezbollah.

"We see only one possible way ahead: an immediate ceasefire and the full implementation of United Nations Security Council Resolution 1701," Borrell said after his meeting with Berri.

Under Resolution 1701, which ended the last Hezbollah-Israeli war of 2006, only Lebanese troops and UN peacekeepers should be allowed to maintain a presence in the south, where Hezbollah holds sway.

It also called for Israel to withdraw troops from Lebanon.

"Back in September I came and was still hoping we could prevent a full-fledged war of Israel attacking Lebanon. Two months later Lebanon is on the brink of collapse," Borrell said.

He said the European Union was ready to provide 200 million euros ($208 million) to help bolster the Lebanese armed forces.

Air raid sirens

Hezbollah is one of the world's best-armed non-state forces, and was the only group in Lebanon that refused to surrender its arsenal after the 1975-1990 civil war.

The Lebanese army maintains a presence across the country's territory, but it is Hezbollah that holds sway in key areas along the border with Israel.

While the Lebanese army is not engaged in the Israel-Hezbollah war, it has suffered multiple fatalities among its ranks.

Yesterday, the army said an Israeli strike on a military post killed one soldier and wounded 18 others.

Also yesterday, Hezbollah said it launched attacks using missiles and drones directed at a naval base in southern Israel and a "military target" in Tel Aviv.

It said it had "launched, for the first time, an aerial attack using a swarm of strike drones on the Ashdod naval base".

In also claimed to have carried out an operation against a "military target" in Tel Aviv using "a barrage of advanced missiles and a swarm of strike drones".

The Israeli military said air raid sirens were activated in several areas of central and northern Israel, adding that it had intercepted projectiles fired from Lebanon.

Israel's emergency medical service Magen David Adom said it had provided treatment to two people including a 70-year-old woman who was mildly injured.

On Saturday, Lebanon said Israeli strikes around the country killed more than 55 people, many of them in central Beirut.

One strike on the working-class Basta neighbourhood of Beirut killed at least 20 people and wounded 66 others, Lebanon's health ministry said.

"We saw two dead people on the ground... The children started crying and their mother cried even more," said Samir, 60, who lives in a building facing the one destroyed.

In a phone call with Israeli Defence Minister Israel Katz on Saturday, Washington's Defence Secretary Lloyd Austin "reiterated US commitment to a diplomatic resolution" in the Lebanon war, a Pentagon spokesperson said.

A spokesman for Katz said he commended US efforts towards de-escalation in Lebanon, but said Israel would "continue to act decisively in response to Hezbollah's attacks on civilian populations in Israel".

Hostage claim

On the Gaza front, Hamas's armed wing said Saturday that an Israeli hostage, captured during the group's October 7 attack which triggered the war, had been killed.

Israel's military said it could neither "confirm nor refute" the claim. Israeli protesters held another of their regular Saturday rallies in Tel Aviv to demand their government reach a deal to free remaining hostages.

Yesterday, Gaza's civil defence agency said a drone strike had seriously injured a hospital chief in an attack on the healthcare facility, while Israeli raids killed 11 people across the Palestinian territory.

Hossam Abu Safiya heads the Kamal Adwan hospital, one of just two partly operating facilities in northern Gaza, as the territory is in the grip of a dire humanitarian crisis.

Developing nations slam 'paltry' $300 bn climate deal

AFP | Baku

The world approved a bitterly negotiated climate deal yesterday but poorer nations most at the mercy of worsening disasters dismissed a $300 billion a year pledge from wealthy historic polluters as insultingly low.

After two exhausting weeks of chaotic bargaining and sleepless nights, nearly 200 nations pushed through the contentious finance pact in the early hours in a sports stadium in Azerbaijan.

But the applause had barely subsided when India delivered a full-throated rejection of the "abysmally poor" deal, kicking off a firestorm of criticism from across the developing world. "It's a paltry sum," thundered India's delegate Chandni Raina. "This document is little more than an optical illusion. This, in our opinion, will not address the enormity of the challenge we all face."

Sierra Leone's climate minister Jiwoh Abdulai said it showed a "lack of goodwill" from rich countries to stand by the world's poorest as they confront rising seas and harsher droughts.

Nigeria's envoy Nkiruka Maeduekwe put it even more bluntly: "This is an insult." Some countries had accused Azerbaijan, an oil and gas exporter, of lacking the will to meet the moment in a year defined by costly climate disasters and on track to become the hottest on record.

But at protests throughout COP29, developed nations -- major economies like the European Union, the United States and Japan -- were accused of negotiating in bad faith, making a fair deal impossible.

Developing nations arrived in the Caspian Sea city of Baku hoping to secure a massive financial boost from rich countries many times above their existing pledge of $100 billion a year.

Tina Stege, climate envoy for the Marshall Islands, said she would return home with only a "small portion" of what she fought for, but not empty-handed.

Key Trump pick calls for end to escalation in Ukraine

AFP | Washington

US President-elect Donald Trump's top security advisor called yesterday for an end to the escalation of the war between Ukraine and Russia, and for both parties to come to the negotiating table.

"We need to bring this to a responsible end. We need to restore deterrence, restore peace, and get ahead of this escalation ladder, rather than responding to it," said Mike Waltz, Trump's pick for the influential role of US national security advisor (NSA).

In recent days, Washington has authorized Kyiv to use US-supplied missiles to strike targets in Russian territory and agreed to supply it with landmines, prompting Moscow to respond with the use of an experimental medium-range ballistic missile.

Waltz, a noted foreign policy hawk and former US special forces officer, has been critical of Russia but has, like Trump, opposed increasing aid to Ukraine.

"President Trump has been very clear about the need to end this conflict," he told US media outlet Fox News yesterday.

Mike Waltz walks on stage on the first day of the Republican National Convention

"We need to be discussing is who's at that table, whether it's an agreement, an armistice, how to get both sides to the table and then what's the framework of a deal?" Russia invaded Ukraine in 2022, with the United States and others coming to Kyiv's aid in its fight to hold its territory in the east of the country.

Ukraine's President Volodymyr Zelensky has in the past ruled out ceding any territory to Russia, and told Fox News on Tuesday that Ukraine would lose the war if Washington pulls funding.

President Joe Biden's administration has promised a smooth transition to Trump, who has pledged major shake-ups on both foreign and domestic policy.

IPO - initial public offering

ABDELGADIR WARSAMA GHALIB, LEGAL COUNSEL
 EMAIL: AWARSAMA@WARSAMALC.COM

When a private company first sells shares of stock to the public, this process is known as an initial public offering (IPO). In essence, an IPO means that a company's ownership is transitioning from private ownership to public ownership.

This process is to be taken by private owned companies, to go for the public inviting all eligible investors to come and take shares in the company. By doing this, the company becomes "Public Company", open for the public to give hand and join forces.

The companies & Securities Markets laws, provide for necessary details & procedures for initiating and starting the IPOs and thus transferring the private company to be a public company registered in the securities markets as required by the law

Normally, companies go-public after careful consideration and deep understanding of the path of the company and, also, the suitability of the market and the public to take the venture

There are different types of IPOs, namely, the fixed price offering and the book building offering, each type has got its own characteristics & features. Normally, companies go-public after careful consideration and deep understanding of the path of the company and, also, the suitability of the market and the public to take the venture. Private companies, will not go for this dramatic change unless they are confident about themselves and the goods or services they are or will be offering in the market for the interest of the new comers.

There are many advantages to-go-public, as inviting new institutional investors \ shareholders in the company wherein they bring their own money which increases the capital of the company. Moreover, to bring new minds & business ideas to share in developing the future march of the company. As per the company law, any company can change its types \ structure to another type approved by the law.

During last weeks, it was in the news that, Lulu Hypermarket company puts an IPO offering good portion of its shares to the public in Abu Dhabi Securities market. What is good, is that, the public rushed to take over the offered shares within very short time. This step clearly indicates that Lulu Hypermarket Company is an excellent, profitable & future company for lucrative investment.

The rush of the public, is a good sign and clear certificate of the very good health of the company & the public therein are interested to join this profitable excellent investment. This certificate, no doubt, shows the remarkable stand of the company and good conduct not only in Abu Dhabi, but all over the world where the branches of the company are excelling in their services to clients and consumers. Always, good service yields.

By this courageous step, this company is entering the public show and by this venture, all its activities will be mirrored in the Securities Markets, where transparency, accountability and full disclosure of all details to the public is a legal requirement. We say this, as listing in the markets will definitely streamline the corporate business of all companies and this will help in boosting the national economies. Going-to-public, is a good step for all private companies, as well as, the public in general.

In Bahrain, there are good examples of going-public & we look for more competent private companies to follow suit.

Selena Gomez feels 'proud' of her career success

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Selena Gomez feels "really proud" of her success.

The 32-year-old star achieved billionaire status earlier this year, and although Selena doesn't feel as though success has changed her at all, she still feels proud of everything she's achieved in her career.

Asked about her billionaire status, Selena told The Hollywood Reporter: "I don't really pay much attention."

"I don't think anything about me has changed. I don't think that I feel different. I think I'm just really proud. And also, personally, I just don't think it's anyone's business."

Selena founded the cosmetic company Rare Beauty in 2020, and the venture has helped to raise money for mental health

"I don't think anything about me has changed. I don't think that I feel different. I think I'm just really proud. And also, personally, I just don't think it's anyone's business"

SELENA GOMEZ

I was meeting with the final team that we had hired for Rare Beauty - which at the time was maybe five of us total - I said, 'I want there to be a percentage or something; I need you guys to help me figure it out.' That's when we created the Impact Fund, which started before we sold a single product."

Asked what she makes of Rare Beauty's success, Selena - who has been open about her own mental health struggles - replied: "There's a real craving for people to have something accessible, something inclusive, something that isn't complicated. That's at least what I hear the most about, and then the blush, of course."

Ariana Grande: Glinda might be 'in the closet'

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Ariana Grande thinks her 'Wicked' character might be "a little in the closet".

The 31-year-old singer and actress and her co-star Cynthia Erivo admitted their alter egos, Glinda and Elphaba, have an "unbreakable bond" and think some fans have pushed for them to be seen as a romantic pairing because they recognise the "true love" between them.

But while Cynthia thinks Elphaba just "loves love", Ariana thinks Glinda would need "more time" to recognise anything more in their friendship.

Speaking to Gay Times, Cynthia, 37, said: "I think Elphie, she goes wherever the wind blows."

"I think she loves Glinda. I think she loves love. And I don't think there's anything wrong with celebrating the deep connection that both of them have."

"They do have a real relationship. It is true love, which is probably why people are shipping it, you know? Because what they build with each other is an unbreakable bond and love."

Ariana Grande

Ariana added: "And trust and truth. Just such a safe space for one another, which is what all relationships should be, whether it's romantic or platonic... Glinda might be a little in the closet. You never know! Give it a little more time."

But the 'Thank U, Next' hitmaker believes the relationship between the witches "transcends sexuality".

She added: "I mean, it is just a true love, and I think that transcends sexuality."

"It's just kind of a deep safety within each other. And that's why [fans] probably why they ship it."

Ariana previously declared the land of Oz, as featured in 'Wicked' and the original 'Wizard of Oz' story, to be a "very queer place" and insisted it had "always" been that way.

She told GLAAD: "Oz is a very queer place and has always been, even from the L. Frank Baum books. It's always been queer."

Miley Cyrus makes frank admission about the pitfalls of child stardom

Bang Showbiz | Los Angeles

Miley Cyrus used to struggle to "connect with people" because of her fame.

The 31-year-old singer became known around the world when she took on the title role in the Disney Channel sitcom 'Hannah Montana' as a teenager and went on to become one of the world's biggest pop stars in the process but noted that having that kind of notoriety "got in the way" of her social relationships.

She told Harper's Bazaar: "Obviously, [being a child star] shaped me into a very different adult than some of my peers or my friends. It is just a really different childhood to have. For a while, I thought it got in the way of me connecting with people."

Just before the new interview, the 'Flowers' hitmaker had done a Chinese medicine quiz, and one of the questions was about whether she felt she could easily form relationships with others.

Miley wasn't exactly sure how to answer that but did recall that while she can "drop" her celebrity persona whenever she chooses, it can be difficult for others to perceive her as an ordinary person.

She said: "I don't even know how to really answer that because for who I am as a person, yes, I feel like I can connect to people and I feel like I'm a friend to all. But because of how I've grown up, sometimes people make it harder. I can drop my persona really easily, but it's hard for other people to erase that part of you."

The Grammy Award-winning star appeared on the hit Disney Channel series alongside her father Billy Ray Cyrus and the success of the sitcom made her a multimillionaire by her mid-teens, but she recalled that it was her mother Tish Cyrus who would often step in to discipline her.

"And she's like, 'I don't care. You're not getting your phone.'"

Jaiswal, Kohli shine in Perth dominance

India set Australia 534 to win as Kohli and Jaiswal excel with centuries

● Yashasvi Jaiswal scores 161, Virat Kohli hits 100 as India dominates Australia

● India declares second innings on 487-6, sets Australia 534 to win

● Australia struggles, loses three wickets before stumps on day three

AFP | Perth

Yashasvi Jaiswal slammed a majestic 161 and Virat Kohli roared back to form with a vintage century yesterday as India zeroed in on victory against Australia in the first Test in Perth.

The visitors declared their second innings on 487-6 in the final session of day three after Kohli rolled back the years to reach 100.

Faced with an ominous 534 to win, Australia needed to survive 30 minutes before stumps.

But they instead imploded with rookie Nathan McSweeney out for a duck to Jasprit Bumrah and nightwatchman Pat Cummins falling for two, edging Mohammed Siraj to Kohli at slip.

nus Labuschagne (3) lbw, a close was called with Usman Khawaja not-out three and Australia in disarray at 12-3.

The day belonged to Jaiswal, who grew up homeless in Mumbai, hitting 15 fours and three sixes in a mature 297-ball stay.

The 22-year-old opener, in his 15th Test, seemed destined for a double century but he cut

Mitchell Marsh to Steve Smith at point and departed to a standing ovation.

"For me all my centuries are amazing, but this is special because I really wanted to do it (against Australia)," said Jaiswal.

"I worked so hard in every practice session, I wanted to score runs here in Australia, so I really enjoyed it.

"I was just playing normally, I always trust in me and believe in me."

Kohli was also on fire in a welcome resurgence after a lengthy lean spell that sparked questions about his place in the team. The 36-year-old rode his luck to bring up a 30th Test ton and his first since July last year to silence the critics.

Along with Jaiswal, Australia removed Devdutt Padikkal (25), Rishabh Pant (1), Dhruv Jurel (1) and Washington Sundar (29), having accounted for KL Rahul (77) before lunch.

Rahul's demise snapped a 201-run opening partnership with Jaiswal, a record for India in Australia, eclipsing the previous best set by Sunil Gavaskar and Kris Srikkanth in Sydney in 1986.

Madrid chief Perez attacks UEFA, FIFA, Ballon d'Or

Real Madrid chief Florentino Perez lashed out at various targets during the club's annual general meeting yesterday including European and world football governing bodies UEFA and FIFA.

The 77-year-old Los Blancos chief has been at war with football's rulers over the Super League project Madrid, Barcelona and other top European sides tried to launch in 2021.

Perez blasted the new and expanded Champions League format which features eight group games instead of six and an extra round of matches for some clubs.

"The new Champions League format is unfair, nobody understands it," said Perez.

"With more games, the value of each one has fallen almost 30 percent -- there are more games, but they are worth less.

"This competition will only arouse interest at the end and not at the start."

'Fragile' Man City in uncharted territory, admits Guardiola

● Spurs thrash Man City 4-0 to end 52-match unbeaten home run

AFP | London

Manchester City manager Pep Guardiola admitted "in eight years we have never lived this kind of situation" after Tottenham won 4-0 at the Etihad on Saturday to condemn the Premier League champions to a fifth straight defeat in all competitions.

James Maddison marked his 28th birthday with two first-half goals before Pedro Porro scored against his former club, with Brennan Johnson completing the rout.

Defeat meant the end of City's 52-game unbeaten home run and left them on a losing streak unlike anything else Guardiola has experienced since arriving especially the next one. Now we see things in one way, maybe in a few weeks we see it differently."

City travel to Liverpool next weekend and Guardiola conceded their defence of the title is realistically over should they lose and fall 11 points behind the Reds.

After a bright start, City collapsed when Maddison opened the scoring with virtually Tottenham's first attack.

Guardiola's men have rewritten the record books of English football in recent years by winning four consecutive Premier League titles.

But he recognised that they are stuck in a negative mental spiral after a series of unexpected defeats.

"We are a bit fragile right now, that is obvious for the fact that we struggled today to score goals. And after when they arrived, they scored," he added.

"We are playing a little bit in our thoughts, with a little bit of negativity, but it's normal. Football is a sense of mood. And when you win a lot, there's continuity that gives us self-confidence that you can do it.

FIBA Asia Cup tensions rise as Bahrain takes on UAE today

Bahrain faces the UAE today in the FIBA Asia Cup 2025 qualifiers, with both teams aiming to make a statement in the race for progression. The game, held at Sheikh Saeed Bin Maktoum Sports Hall in Dubai, sees Bahrain looking to build on their recent win, while the UAE seek their first win of the campaign.

Bahrain Buoyed by Momentum

Bahrain come into the contest on the back of a 76-71 win over Syria, a game that saw Ahmed Haji hit a record-breaking 11 three-pointers.

While Haji's heroics were headline-worthy, Bahrain's overall performance in the first half, where they built a 20-point lead, showed the team's growing confidence and cohesion.

Bahrain's Man of the Moment, Ahmed Haji

Coach Sam Vincent will be keen to see his side replicate that dominance against an Emarati team struggling to find form. With Mustafa Rashed and Devon Dwayne Chism also in fine form, Bahrain will look to maintain their balanced attack and defensive intensity.

UAE Searching for Redemption

The UAE come into the fixture off a heavy 99-77 defeat to Lebanon. Defensive frailties and an inability to contain high-scoring offenses have left them winless so far. However, playing at home could provide the spark needed to reignite their campaign.

For the Emarati side, containing Bahrain's perimeter threats and disrupting their offensive rhythm will be key. They will also need a standout performance from their frontcourt to match Bahrain's physicality in the paint.

High Stakes

With the qualifiers entering a critical phase, both teams have much to play for. Bahrain will be eager to consolidate their position in the group and move closer to qualification, while the UAE are desperate to avoid slipping further behind.

Verstappen clinches fourth title

Max Verstappen finishes fifth in Las Vegas, securing his place among F1 legends

● Hamilton finishes second

● Verstappen finishes just ahead of Lando Norris, sealing championship

AFP | Las Vegas

Max Verstappen claimed a fourth consecutive Formula One world title under the lights of the Las Vegas Grand Prix on Saturday and was immediately hailed as "amongst the greats".

The 27-year-old Dutchman came home in fifth place in a race won by George Russell of Mercedes as he became just the sixth man after Michael Schumacher, Lewis Hamilton, Juan Manuel Fangio, Sebastian Vettel and Alain Prost to claim four championships.

Driving with calm acumen in the gambling capital of America, Verstappen finished just ahead of his friend and rival Lando Norris of McLaren to take the title.

His calm drive in defence of his crown overshadowed a perfect night for Russell who claimed his second win of the season.

Russell finished 7.313 seconds clear of seven-time champion Hamilton, who had started from 10th on the grid, with Carlos Sainz finishing third ahead of Ferrari team-mate Charles Leclerc, Verstappen and Norris, who was 43 seconds ahead of McLaren team-mate Oscar Piastri.

Nico Hulkenberg was eighth for Haas ahead of RB's Yuki Tsunoda and Sergio Perez in the second Red Bull.

Norris, who needed to outscore Verstappen by three points to keep his title hopes alive, took an extra point for fastest lap, but his challenge was over.

Seven wins in the opening ten races launched Verstappen to this success, but he needed to overcome a mid-season run of ten without a win before victory in a rain-hit race in Brazil set up his fourth title.

"It's been a long season," admitted Verstappen. "It started off amazingly, we were cruising and then we had a tough run, but we kept it together."

"At 17, I was just happy to be here and learn and never thought of this. To stand here now as a four-time champion is just incredible."

"It's been so competitive this time. A really challenging season and challenging for me as a person too at times. It has taught me a lot and we've handled it well as a team. A special season. A beautiful season."

Remarkably, Verstappen has been on top of the world championship in an unbroken run since the Spanish Grand Prix in 2022.

'Great human'

"It's incredible, he's done an amazing job," said Red Bull team chief Christian Horner.

"He's been outstanding all year and we are just very proud of him. He's won eight Grand Prix and the championship with two races to spare and you can't ask for more than that."

Horner added: "He just gets in the car and he delivers, he's a great human. It puts him amongst the greats."

Norris added: "Massive congrats to him. He's deserved it."

"He drove an incredible season and when you have the quickest car he dominated and when he didn't he was still there and always on my heels. He made my life tough, we made his tough at times I'm sure but he drove a better season."

On his race, Norris admitted: "It was pretty 'pants' (poor), bad pace, grip, tyre management, just a poor weekend from us."

Verstappen was congratulated by his rival drivers and many others after the race, Hamilton notably leading the way.

"First of all, I've got to say a big congratulations to Max for winning the championship still with races to go," said Hamilton.

Russell, meanwhile, described his lights-to-flag victory as a "dream weekend".

"It's going to be a big party. I was planning on flying in a couple of hours, but I'm definitely not getting on that flight and I am going to enjoy my night with all my team."

Fastest in practice and most of qualifying, Hamilton had made errors that cost him pole and left him 10th on the grid to produce a vintage performance, responding to talk of his F1 "shelf life" ending with a bravado drive before he moves to Ferrari to replace Sainz at the end of the season.

"If I had done my job yesterday it would've been a breeze today, but I had fun coming from the back in 10th. The team did a fantastic job this weekend," said Hamilton.
