Push to extend service hours in government

● MP proposal aims to boost service quality

H Naser
TDT | Manama

MP Jalal Kazim has submitted a proposal to the Council of Representatives advocating for the extension of service hours in government ministries to include both morning and evening shifts.

The proposal aims to improve service quality and create new job opportunities for Bahraini citizens.

MP Kazim argues that the current morning-only operating hours of many ministries create significant inconvenience for a large segment of the population.

He highlighted that these hours often clash with work schedules and personal commitments, causing delays and difficulties, particularly for urgent matters.

The proposal specifically addresses the needs of senior citizens who may struggle with online services and require in-person assistance.

MP Jalal Kazim

It also acknowledges the challenges faced by working individuals who cannot access government services during the current morning hours due to work constraints or overwhelming crowds.

“By extending service hours to include both morning and evening shifts, citizens will have greater flexibility in choosing a time that best suits their schedules, leading to smoother processes and reduced congestion during peak morning hours,” he stated to the Daily Tribune.

Farouk Yousuf Almoayyed, a highly regarded Bahraini businessman, has passed away at the age of 80 due to complications following surgery abroad.

His life’s work had a profound influence on Bahrain’s economy, earning him recognition as a key figure in its modern development.

Born in Manama in 1944, Farouk grew up in the Fareej Al Fadhel neighbourhood, part of a well-established trading family.

He graduated in 1966 from Loughborough University in England with a degree in Mechanical Engineering and returned to Bahrain to join the family business.

His involvement helped expand and strengthen its operations, ensuring its growth during changing economic times.

Farouk’s father, Shaikh Yousif Al Moayyed, had shifted the family’s trade focus from pearls – following the downturn in that market – towards sectors like electrical goods.

Farouk built on this foundation, overseeing further diversification and cementing the group’s standing in local and

He further served as Deputy Chairman of the Labour Market Regulatory Authority (LMRA) and National Bank of Bahrain (NBB), and as Deputy Speaker of the Shura Council.

Farouk’s influence reached far beyond Bahrain.

He held directorships with Bahrain Saudi Bank, Arab Banking Corporation, United Gulf Insurance and Reinsurance, Asia International Bank in Hong Kong, and Investcorp.

He also advised international institutions, including Harvard University’s Institute for Social and Economic Policy in the Middle East and Georgetown University’s Center for Contemporary Arab Studies.

In addition, he was an honorary member of the Rotary Club of Manama.

Where recreation meets relaxation

Plans approved for major makeover of Abu Subh beach coastline in Duraz

Mohammed Darwish
TDI | Manama

Families in Duraz can look forward to a transformed Abu Subh beach, as the Northern Municipal Council has given the green light to plans that will breathe new life into the area.

The proposal, led by Councillor Basim Abu Idris, aims to turn the site into a welcoming space for residents, visitors, and tourists.

"This project will bring much-needed improvements to the coastline, making it a destination that locals can be proud of while encouraging more visitors to enjoy its charms," he said.

Plans include restoring the 570-square-metre road running alongside the coast, adding new lighting and concrete benches to make the area more inviting.

A new blue asphalt pathway will also be introduced, encouraging locals to stay active and fitting with the Northern Governorate's efforts to promote health and well-being.

Family-friendly beach

The shoreline itself, according to the proposal, sees big changes, with rocks removed and clean sand added to create a family-friendly beach.

"We want this space to serve as a hub for recreation and relaxation, giving people a reason to visit and spend time outdoors," Abu Idris explained.

As part of the redevelopment, informal structures are planned to be replaced with new shop spaces designed to support local traders, including Bahraini entrepreneurs and street vendors.

"We want this space to serve as a hub for recreation and relaxation, giving people a reason to visit and spend time outdoors."

This move ties in with the popular Farmers' Market and is set to give small businesses a new platform to grow.

The project also includes a focus on empowering women, in line with the goals of the Supreme Council for Women.

New regulations on medical devices and products

H Naser
TDI | Manama

The Chairman of the Supreme Health Council, Lieutenant General Dr Shaikh Mohammed bin Abdullah Al Khalifa, has announced new regulations aimed at ensuring the quality of medical devices and products in Bahrain.

The decision mandates that all establishments must obtain a license from the National Health Regulatory Authority (NHRA) to market contact lenses, medical devices, and lasers used for cosmetic purposes.

Under the new regulations, all entities are required to secure a license from the NHRA, and any activity related to medical devices and products is strictly prohibited unless conducted by a licensed establishment.

This move is intended to strengthen oversight and ensure that only approved products are available in the market.

Licenses

Furthermore, the regulations stipulate that medical devices and products must only be used in health facilities that hold the appropriate licenses issued by the NHRA.

No device or product may be manufactured, imported, or marketed in Bahrain without prior registration with the NHRA and obtaining written permission for marketing.

The decision outlines that devices and products registered in

Failure to comply with the new regulations may result in the NHRA revoking the registration of the medical device or the establishment's license.

Germany (BfArM).

Registration with one of these countries is required, along with payment of the applicable fees.

Establishments are also obligated to store and transport medical devices and products according to the manufacturer's instructions.

Failure to comply may result in the NHRA revoking the registration of the medical device or the establishment's license.

Authorisation

Furthermore, the marketing and advertising of medical devices and products are prohibited without prior authorisation from the NHRA and payment of the required fees.

However, low-risk home medical devices, such as digital thermometers and blood pressure monitors, are exempt from this requirement.

Shura reviewing law to train expat replacements

TDI | Manama

Parliament-approved law requiring foreign recruits in Bahrain's public sector to train Bahraini replacements and meet stricter hiring conditions is set for debate in the Shura Council.

The proposal includes a two-year contract cap, a master's degree requirement, and at least ten years of experience in the relevant field.

The Shura Council's Legislative Committee, chaired by lawyer Dalal Jassim Al Zayed, is reviewing amendments to Article 11 of the Civil Service Law, issued under Decree-Law No. 48 of 2010.

Contracts would also require

Shura Council's Legislative Committee

committee approval from the Civil Service Bureau and mandate skill transfer to local staff during the foreign worker's tenure.

During discussions with the Civil Service Bureau, the committee explored the constitutional and legal implications of the proposed law, as well as concerns over the current foreign hiring process.

Supporters of the law argue it will prioritise Bahraini nationals for government jobs, reduce unemployment, and prepare local talent to replace foreign recruits.

Further deliberations are expected before the Shura Council's full debate on the proposal.

50 food trucks ordered off Al Estiqlal Highway

TDI | Manama

More than 50 food trucks stationed along Al Estiqlal Highway have been ordered to leave immediately, following notices issued by the Southern Municipality.

Warning stickers were placed on the vehicles, with legal action threatened for non-compliance. This move mirrors recent steps taken by the Northern Municipality, which targeted food trucks in Salmabad for similar reasons.

The food trucks along the highway serve a variety of offerings, including sandwiches and light snacks, attracting a diverse customer base.

MP Mohammed Al Olaiwi told The Daily Tribune: "There are parliamentary moves to stop the removal of food trucks, especially as Bahrain has around 500 licensed trucks, which provide a livelihood for many families. A good number of these owners turned to this trade after struggling with unemployment, and many now depend on it to support their households."

Meanwhile, TDI has learned that several MPs are planning to discuss ways to halt this action, with announcements expected soon.

Taxes, curbs on new plastic could slash pollution: study

Tokyo, Japan

Higher taxes and a controversial limit on virgin plastic production are among a set of policies that could slash the amount of plastic waste leaking into the environment, a new study has found.

Researchers used artificial intelligence to pinpoint four new policies they say could reduce the amount of "mismanaged" plastic waste -- more likely to leak into the environment -- by over 90 percent by 2050.

The University of California

scientists hope their findings will inform negotiations to agree the world's first treaty on plastic pollution that began Monday in Busan.

The policies are: investment into waste-management infrastructure, limits on virgin plastic production, financial measures such as a packaging tax, and mandating that new products contain at least 40 percent recycled plastic.

They are "by no means a panacea" to the huge problem of plastic pollution, cautioned Neil Nathan of the University of California, Santa Barbara.

But when implemented together, the measures could reduce annual levels of mismanaged plastic waste to around 11 million metric tons by 2050, compared with 121 million under a business-as-usual projection.

Spain's disgraced former king Juan Carlos is being sued for alleged tax offenses by a group of retired judges, one of the complainants said yesterday. Spanish prosecutors in March 2022 closed three probes into his finances due to insufficient evidence and the statute of limitations, but said several irregularities had been found. Among them were lucrative gifts from Gulf Arab monarchies and private trips funded by a foundation based in the tiny European state of Liechtenstein. The complainants say a court rather than public prosecutors must decide if Juan Carlos fulfilled his tax obligations. Juan Carlos, 86, has made two payments worth more than five million euros to the Spanish tax authorities to settle money owed on undeclared income, widely viewed as a bid to avoid charges.

Egyptian authorities said 17 people including foreigners were missing after a tourist yacht capsized off the country's Red Sea coast yesterday, with 28 others rescued. The vessel, which was carrying 31 tourists of various nationalities and a 14-member crew, sent out a distress signal at 5:30 am (0330 GMT), said a statement from Egypt's Red Sea governorate. The sea story embarked on Sunday on a multi-day diving trip from Port Ghalib near Marsa Alam in Egypt's southeast, and was due to dock on Friday in the town of Hurghada, 200 kilometres (124 miles) north. Governor Amr Hanafi said that some survivors were rescued by an aircraft, while others were transported to safety aboard a warship. "Intensive search operations are underway in coordination with the navy and the armed forces," Hanafi added in a statement. Authorities have not indicated the possible cause of the incident or mention the nationalities of the tourists. The area of Marsa Alam has seen at least two similar incidents earlier this year. Both ended without any deaths.

The British government yesterday announced sanctions on 30 ships that it says are part of Russia's "shadow fleet", taking to 73 the number of vessels under restrictions by London. Foreign Secretary David Lammy called the measures the UK's "biggest sanctions package" yet against tankers and cargo ships used by Moscow to circumvent export and oil embargoes to fund its war against Ukraine.

The UK also sanctioned two Russian insurers it accused of enabling the so-called ghost fleet, which operates under dubious ownership or without proper insurance.

Russia and Ukraine trade aerial attacks amid escalation fears

Russia said yesterday its air defences had shot down eight ballistic missiles fired by Ukraine, amid heightened tensions over Kyiv's use of Western-supplied long-range arms against Russia.

Ukraine also targeted a Russian fuel depot while Russian aerial attacks wounded more than 30 in strikes on Odesa and Kharkiv, the latest wave of attacks.

Fresh strikes, clashes in Lebanon after ceasefire calls

AFP | Beirut, Lebanon

Israel bombed Hezbollah's Beirut stronghold yesterday and battles raged in Lebanon's south after the Iran-backed militant group claimed 50 attacks on Israeli targets the day before.

The Israeli military said Hezbollah fired 250 projectiles into Israel on Sunday, part of a wave of attacks the militants said had targeted areas including the Ashdod naval base in southern Israel and military sites near Tel Aviv.

The military said on Monday that it had "conducted intelligence-based strikes on several Hezbollah command centres" in Beirut's southern suburbs, a stronghold of the Iran-backed group, which Israel has repeatedly bombed since it escalated air strikes on September 30.

Those still in north Gaza 'scavenging among the rubble': UNRWA

UNRWA estimates that between 100,000 and 130,000 people have fled north Gaza

AFP | Jerusalem, Undefined

With an intensive Israeli military operation in Gaza's besieged north in its 50th day, remaining residents are left "scavenging among the rubble" for food, UNRWA spokeswoman Louise Wateridge told AFP.

The Israeli army announced it would intensify operations in the ravaged north of the territory on October 6, with troops encircling the northern city of Jabalia and adjacent areas at the time.

Speaking to AFP from Gaza City, where many of the north's residents have fled since the operation began, Wateridge gave insights gleaned from speaking to displaced Palestinians and colleagues from the UN agency for Palestinian refugees.

She said UNRWA estimates that between 100,000 and 130,000 people have fled north Gaza since the beginning of the operation, which Israel said aims to keep Hamas militants from regrouping in the area.

What is the current situation?

"There is no access to food, no access to drinking water. Eight of the UNRWA water wells that were in Jabalia, they stopped functioning weeks ago. They've been damaged, destroyed, they've run out of fuel.

"There was very horrific reports of continued strikes on hospitals, on shelters where people are.

"Here in Gaza City, I'm meeting people who have fled for their lives and they're showing me these appalling videos where they're running through the streets, they're navigating, you know, the rubble.

"There are bodies of children around them, there are bodies of people who have been killed everywhere that they have to walk and step over to get out.

"Fifty days of siege, it's unfathomable, the destruction, the death, the pain, the suffering that that will cause.

"I met some children just in the last few days, you can hear the planes going over, you can hear the drones and they freeze,

"They don't have mattresses, they don't have tarps, they don't have tents, they don't have blankets, families are crying, begging because their children don't have clothes, they don't have warm clothes, babies don't have anything to keep them warm."

UN calls on parties to 'accept a ceasefire' in Lebanon

United Nations, United States

A senior UN official on Monday called on all parties involved in the conflict in Lebanon to "accept a ceasefire," as new Israeli strikes targeted Beirut's southern suburbs, a Hezbollah stronghold.

The violence follows top European Union diplomat Josep Borrell calling for an immediate ceasefire on Sunday and after a US envoy said last week that a deal was within grasp.

"The situation remains grave across the region," senior envoy Muhammad Hadi told the Security Council on behalf of UN Middle East envoy Tor Wennesland.

"Israeli military operations continued across the Blue Line with Lebanon, as did the firing of rockets by Hezbollah toward Israel, including a barrage this weekend," he said.

"I welcome the ongoing diplomatic efforts to reach a cessation of hostilities and urge the parties to accept a ceasefire anchored in the full implementation of UNSCR 1701," Hadi said in the remarks.

UN Security Council Resolution 1701 ended the 2006 war because their children don't have clothes, they don't have warm clothes, babies don't have anything to keep them warm.

"It's beyond appalling, the conditions people are forced to live in here. So they're among the rubble, they're in these facilities that should be protected by international law.

"Horrible stories of tanks arriving, of strikes on the schools, and then people being forced to go back and shelter there because they simply don't have anywhere else to go."

What about those in Gaza City?

"(There are) around 100,000 to 130,000 more people forcibly displaced from Jabalia, from Beit Hanoun, from these besieged areas. And... they're arriving (in Gaza City) to charcoal buildings, blown out buildings, it's raining, it's cold, it's freezing.

"They don't have mattresses, they don't have tarps, they don't have tents, they don't have blankets, families are crying, begging

I met some children just in the last few days, you can hear the planes going over, you can hear the drones and they freeze, they completely freeze, they don't have anything to say, their teeth start chattering, they're absolutely paralysed by fear from these experiences that they've had over the last few weeks."

G7 discuss ceasefire efforts in Middle East
AFP | Fuggi, Italy

G7 foreign ministers met near Rome on Monday for two days of talks with regional counterparts on the Middle East and the war in Ukraine.

The Group of Seven ministers will also discuss the International Criminal Court's arrest warrants for Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and Hamas's military chief, "and the possible effects on the current crises in Lebanon and Gaza", Italy's foreign ministry said.

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken attended the talks in Fuggi and Anagni alongside ministers from fellow G7 nations Britain, Canada, Germany, France and Japan, hosted by Italy's Antonio Tajani.

"Unity is our strength at the moment, I'm referring above all to relations with the Russian Federation," Tajani said as he kicked off the meeting.

"Strength does not mean a fortress. In fact, I have invited other countries to the meetings which will take place this afternoon and tomorrow, in order to have a broader and more concrete discussion", he said.

The first session on Monday afternoon was dedicated to the situation in the Middle East and the Red Sea, notably efforts to reach a ceasefire in Gaza and Lebanon.

Philippine VP Duterte 'mastermind' of assassination plot

Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos (C) stands beside Vice President Sara Duterte (L) in a traditional dress after he delivered his first State of the Nation address at the House of Representatives in Quezon City, suburban Manila

AFP | Manila, Philippines

The Philippines justice department on Monday labelled Vice President Sara Duterte the "mastermind" of a plot to assassinate the country's president, giving her five days to respond to a subpoena.

Duterte is being asked to explain herself in the wake of a blistering weekend press conference where she said she had instructed that President Ferdinand Marcos be killed should an alleged plot to kill her succeed.

"The government is taking action to protect our duly elected president," Justice Undersecretary Jesse Andres told reporters Monday.

"The premeditated plot to assassinate the president as declared by the self-confessed mastermind will now face legal consequences."

Hours earlier, in his first public comments on the matter, Marcos vowed to "fight back" in the face of a threat he labelled "disturbing".

The Marcos-Duterte alliance that swept to power in 2022 has collapsed spectacularly in the lead-up to next year's mid-term elections, with both sides trading allegations of drug addiction.

Duterte, who is facing potential impeachment hearings, told reporters early Saturday that she herself was the subject of an assassination plot and had instructed that Marcos be killed should it succeed.

In the expletive-laced press conference, Duterte also singled out first lady Liza Araneta-Marcos and presidential cousin Martin Romualdez as potential targets.

"I said, if I die, don't stop until you have killed them," she claimed to have told a security team member in regard to the trio.

Hours later, the presidential palace said it was treating the comments as an "active threat". "That sort of criminal attempt must not go unchallenged," Marcos said Monday. "As a democratic country, we need to uphold the law."

"The vice president is not immune from suit. She can be the subject of any criminal or administrative case," Andres told reporters, adding the subpoena was in the process of being served.

He added that a manhunt was underway for the "assassin" allegedly engaged by Duterte.

Deadly cargo jet crash in Lithuania amid sabotage probes

AFP | Vilnius, Lithuania

A DHL cargo plane crashed Monday near the Lithuanian capital's airport, killing one crew member, but authorities stopped short of linking the tragedy to a recent series of sabotage cases.

Lithuanian officials have in past weeks probed alleged acts of incendiary devices being planted on cargo planes.

The plane, which had arrived from the German city of Leipzig, crashed about one kilometre (0.6 miles) from Vilnius airport having hit several buildings as it skidded several hundreds metres, according to the police and the DHL company.

Images from the crash site showed debris from the plane and packages on fire scattered across a residential area cordoned off by the emergency services.

"So far, there are no signs or evidence suggesting this was sabotage or a terrorist act," Defence Minister Laurynas Kasčiunas told reporters, adding the probe to establish the cause could take "about a week".

Burning goods following the crash of a cargo plane near the Vilnius International Airport in Vilnius

"We cannot rule out the case of terrorism. We have warned that such things are possible, we see an increasingly aggressive Russia... but we cannot make any attributions or point fingers yet," State Security Department chief Darius Jauniskis said.

Echoing the claim, Lithuania's Prime Minister Ingrida Simonyte urged people in a social media post to "refrain from jumping to conclusions" during the investigation.

One woman killed by partner, relative every 10 minutes worldwide: UN

AFP | Vienna, Austria

year, according to a joint report by the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) and the UN Women agency published Monday.

About 60 percent -- or more than 51,000 women and girls -- died at the hands of their partner or relative, the report found.

This equates to 140 women killed per day or one every 10 minutes by those closest to them.

"The home remains the most dangerous place for women and girls in terms of the risk of lethal victimisation," the report said.

While men were four times more likely than women to fall victim to homicide -- forming 80 percent of all murder victims last year -- they more often than not died at the hands of a stranger. Africa had the most severe toll with 21,700 women killed by someone close to them in 2023.

The lowest femicide rates were in Europe (2,300 murders in absolute numbers) and Asia.

Despite efforts in some countries to prevent femicides, they remain "at alarmingly high levels" due to deep-rooted gender inequality and damaging stereotypes.

"We must confront and dismantle the gender biases, power imbalances, and harmful norms that perpetuate violence against women," UNODC Executive Director Ghada Waly said in a statement accompanying the report.

Bahrain's Brave Fight Falls Short Against UAE

Hussain Almaskati
TDT | Manama

Yesterday, the UAE secured an important win over Bahrain in a matchup at the 2025 Asian Cup Qualifiers. Despite Bahrain's valiant early efforts, UAE's tactical brilliance and powerful finish in the fourth quarter sealed the win.

Bahrain's Early Fight, UAE's Resilient Finish

Bahrain came out strong in the first half, with standout performances from Mustafa Rashed and Hamid Albreiki. Rashed's clutch free throws and Albreiki's sharp three-pointers fueled a remarkable 22-0 run, briefly giving Bahrain the lead. However, turnovers and missed opportunities gradually disrupted Bahrain's rhythm, allowing the UAE to mount a comeback. UAE's strong tactical execution in the final quarters, led by Mamadou Ndiaye and Qais Omar Alshababi, took full control of the game. Ndiaye's pivotal rebounds and free throws, combined with Alshababi's defensive resilience, swung the momentum in UAE's favor. Bahrain fought back in the final quarter, but an 11-0 run by UAE proved too much to overcome.

The Lead Up

Leading up to this game,

Mustafa Rashed trying to mount a comeback

Bahrain had been in fine form, buoyed by Ahmed Haji's record-breaking performance in the Continental Cup Qualifiers. Haji's 35-point effort, including 33 points from beyond the arc, helped Bahrain secure a 76-71 victory over Syria. His outstanding shooting performance boosted Bahrain's confidence going into their Gulf Basketball Championship clash with UAE. This came after a tough loss to Lebanon, while UAE, eager for a win after their own 99-77 defeat, entered the game with a determined mindset.

Game Breakdown

UAE dominated the shooting battle with a field goal percentage of 45.7% compared to Bahrain's 37.9%. UAE also excelled in two-point shooting, converting 53.66% of their attempts, while Bahrain managed 51.43%. In three-point shooting, UAE outpaced Bahrain 34.48% to 22.58%. Despite Bahrain's superior free-throw shooting at 86.96%, compared to UAE's 69.57%, the latter had the edge in rebounding, pulling down 47 boards (13 offensive, 34 defensive) compared to Bahrain's 32 (7 offensive, 25 defensive). Both teams were evenly matched in assists, with UAE recording 19 and Bahrain 18. UAE also had the advantage in bench points, contributing 46 points to Bahrain's 15.

Key Performers

DeMarco Dickerson and Devon Chism played crucial roles for UAE. Dickerson was a key offensive threat, contributing with scoring and rebounds, while Chism's defensive presence was vital in limiting Bahrain's offensive chances.

Man Utd 'confused' and 'afraid' as Ipswich hold Amorim to debut draw

AFP | London

Ruben Amorim admitted Manchester United were "confused" and "afraid" as his first match in charge of the troubled club ended in a frustrating 1-1 draw at struggling Ipswich on Sunday.

Amorim's initial taste of the Premier League started with Marcus Rashford putting United ahead in the second minute.

But Omari Hutchinson's deflected strike hauled Ipswich level before half-time to deny Amorim a debut victory after replacing the sacked Erik ten Hag.

While he was impressed by United's work rate against third-bottom Ipswich, he conceded there were numerous flaws to iron out.
