GCC can have big role in bitcoin mining's green energy-driven future

TDT | Dubai, UAE

s bitcoin mining undergoes Amajor changes, the GCC region can have an important role in the transformation, which is being driven by a focus on renewable energy and new technology.

Abdumalik Mirakhmedov, Executive President of GDA, one of the world's largest bitcoin mining companies in terms of hash rate, says strong government support, an abundance of capital, and a commitment to sustainability are positioning the region as a growing force in the sector.

"As these technologies become more widespread, they'll further enhance the sustainability of mining practices," says Mirakhmedov.'

"While bitcoin mining strives to reduce its carbon footprint further, there are other benefits resulting from the industry's ingenuity.

"In Sweden, for instance, the excess heat from mining rigs is being used to warm greenhouses and de-ice vehicles, turning what was once waste into a
