Gaza City in ruins as death toll soars to 8,300

TDT | Manama

Israeli attacks on Gaza continued for the 24th day yesterday, taking the death toll of Palestinians to 8,300 and leaving the southern side of Gaza City in ruins.

Terrified by the intensifying campaign, the 2.4 million civilians trapped inside Gaza are unable to move to a safe zone as bombings have occurred at multiple places.

Concern has surged about the widening humanitarian crisis and the fate of hospitals in Gaza where, the World Health Organisation warns, many patients cannot be safely moved despite Israel's evacuation order.

Fear and desperation have spiralled in Gaza, under weeks of siege that have cut off water, food, fuel and other essentials to the long-blockaded territory. Columns of Israeli tanks and armoured bulldozers were seen churning through the sand, and snipers took positions inside emptied residential buildings, in a footage released by the Israeli army, an AFP report said.

Dozens of tanks advanced for more than an hour into the southern fringes of Gaza City and blocked the main north-south highway, "firing at any vehicle that tries to go along it", an eyewitness told AFP by phone.

Air strikes also cratered the road and brought down buildings, residents said, before the tanks withdrew from the area.
